SAY GERMAN ROUT IN POLAND IS COMPLETE

London, Nov. 26.—(12:35 p. m.)—The official news received in Russian circles in London today declares that the rout of the German and Austrian forces in Poland has been complete.

The general staff, however, is not yet able to give any details of this fighting.

Russian Victory Decisive.

"It is now clear that the Russian victory in Poland is decisive," says the Petrograd correspondent of the Express. "The number of prisoners taken by the Russians is estimated at 50,000.

"The Germans have begun a retreat along the entire front," the correspondent continues, "and in many places the flight is a disordered rout, marked by the abandonment of artillery, Maxims and transports.

"Berlin meanwhile is beginning to talk about repulsing Russian attacks which is a subtle method of announcing that the German troops are on the defensive."

Says Dixmude is Retaken.

The correspondent of the Daily mail at Dunkirk, France, telegraphs that Dixmude has been re-taken by the allies. He says:

"The French marines attacked the town strongly on Tuesday night and drove the Germans out of three lines of advanced trenches. On Wednesday they followed this up by entering the town in an irresistable charge.

"The enemy did not halt in their retreat until they were seven miles out of the town. The marines lost 300 men."

Russians to Aid Servians.

The correspondent of the Times, at Sofia, Bulgaria, reports that Russian troops have arrived in Servia to assist the Servians in fighting the Austrians.

"Fifteen regiments of Russian troops with seventy barge loads of ammunition and supplies have arrived at the Servian town of Raduievatz," the correspondent says. "They made the 500 mile trip up the Danube from Russian territory. They will be rushed to the front to assist the Servians."

GEN. FUNSTON'S MEN AT GALVESTON TODAY

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 26.—Wireless messages from Major General Frederick G. Funston on board the transport Christobel indicates that the first ship of the five bearing the Fifth brigade back to American soil from Vera Cruz, Mexico, will arrive in Galveston shortly after noon today. All are expected to dock by nightfall.

A downpour during the last two days has prevented completion of the camp at Fort Crocket, and the quartermaster's department announced the troops probably will not disembark until Friday or Saturday.

The total number of persons leaving Vera Cruz upon its evacuation is 4,421, as indicated by reports from Gen. Funston received here. The transports Christobel and McClellan and the chartered Ward liner Antilla, having on board more than 300 refugees, are making faster time than the remaining transports and are expected to arrive several hours earlier.

Thanksgiving dinner will be enjoyed by the troops on shipboard.

Immigration officials from Houston and Texas City, are here to assist the legal authorities in handling the ship load of refugees.

RAIL RULING ON NEW WAR TAX LAW

Bureau of Internal Revenue Gives Interpretation for Roads.

Washington, Nov. 26. A ruling of interest to all railroads was issued today by the bureau of internal revenue, interpreting the provision of the war tax law relating to the levy of one cent on all manifests, bills of lading or other evidences of the receipt and forwarding of shipments. The law requires such evidence of receipt on all shipments where the charge is over five cents, but the bureau announces that "a literal compliance with this requirement is in some cases impracticable or impossible."

"It is, therefore, hereby provided," says the ruling, "that where freight is not charged at agency stations it must be receipted for by conductors accepting it. He must see to it that an internal revenue stamp of one cent denomination is attached to each of such receipts and cancelled as required by these regulations before such shipments are accepted."

The ruling provides, however, that in case of shipments of perishable nature or in other cases where such receipts cannot be given by conductors that shipments may be accepted and transported in advance of the affixing of the stamp. The receipt in such cases is to be delivered to the "destination agent," the stamp required of the consignee. Baggage checks for the transportation of bicycles, dogs, baby carriages, etc., will be regarded as evidences of receipt and should be stamped.

WILSON HOLIDAY OLD-FASHIONED

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 26.—President Wilson spent an old-fashioned New England Thanksgiving day with his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, here today. His program included church in the forenoon, an automobile ride in the afternoon and a Thanksgiving dinner at the Sayre home in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, Prof. Stockton Axson, brother of the late Mrs. Wilson, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Mr. Wilson's naval aide and physician, were the president's only companions during the day. He came to the Berkshire hills for rest and seclusion and found it.

St. John's Episcopal church, where the president attended a union Thanksgiving service, was filled to capacity with people from miles around who came to Williamstown for a sight of the nation's chief executive. The rector, Rev. J. Foster, was the preacher.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HERRICK.

Clermont-Oreans, Department of Sarthe, France, Nov. 26.—Baron D'Estournelles and a large number of his colleagues in the senate, have joined in sending a telegram to Myron T. Herrick, the retiring American ambassador, in which they express their regret at the departure of the American diplomat. "We express our profound recognition," the dispatch says, "of all the good you have done since your arrival in Paris, particularly your generous, unremitting and efficient devotion during this detestable war against France and civilization. Our fraternal wishes follow you to the United States. We hope [illegible] Mrs. Herrick and your children [illegible]"

FEDERAL COURT HIS ONLY HOPE

Ohio Tax Board Dismisses Rockefeller's Plea for Relief.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—John D. Rockefeller's only hope of relief from Cuyahoga county tax assessment of $1,200,000 upon involuntary personal tax returns of $311,053,337 now lies in the federal courts. The board of tax complaints yesterday dismissed Rockefeller's complaint asking an abatement on $11,000,000 worth of stocks and bonds, and upheld the action of County Tax Commissioners Fackler and Agnew in placing them upon the duplicate.

Attorneys for Rockefeller intimated today that a federal injunction restraining collection of the tax assessment may be sought. T. A. Cleavenineger, one of the attorneys, said, however, that it has not been decided whether Rockefeller's counsel will make the first move in the court of the fight which will follow.

The board reduced the valuation of Rockefeller's picture, "Disputed Boundary," to $5,000. It was valued by the tax officials at $75,000. The board also abated the assessment of $100,000 worth of "credits," but refused to abate the $8,000 valuation on two automobiles.

RIDER KILLED IN MOTORCYCLE RACE

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 26.—Gray Sloop, of Mooresville, N. C., one of the competitors in the road race here today, was killed when his motorcycle crashed into a tree. Sloop's neck and back were broken.

Thirty-three riders, including some of the best known motorcyclists in the country started here in the second annual 300 miles prize road race, under the auspices of the Savannah Motorcycle club. The course was that over which the Vanderbilt automobile cup races formerly were run.

SWEDISH PRESS IS STIRRED.

Resents German Declaration That Wood is War Contraband.

Stockholm, Nov. 26.—The German declaration that wood is contraband of war has brought out considerable comment in the Swedish press.

Five Swedish steamers laden with wood, it is recited, have recently been stopped in the south Baltic by German cruisers and made to return to Swedish ports. The suggestion is now made in the press that Swedish cruisers convoy Swedish commercial vessels past the German warships.

MORE REFUGEES ARRIVE.

Passengers and Crew of Captured Liner Reach New York.

New York, Nov. 26.—Aboard the steamship Byron, which arrived here today from South American ports, were 58 passengers and sixty-one members of the crew of the Lamport and Holt liner Van Dyck, which was captured by the German cruiser Karlsruhe, off the coast of Brazil.

AWAKENS IN BED OF FIRE

Charles H. Claymiller is Seriously Burned as He Sleeps.

FIRE DUE TO AN ELECTRIC LIGHT

Man's Lower Extremities Suffered Severely in Experience.

Awakening Thursday morning about 3 o'clock to find his bed in flames, his nightshirt consumed up to his shoulders and his lower extremities severely burned, Charles H. Claymiller, 22 years old, son of Rudolph Claymiller, 222 Melita street, has much to be thankful for that he is alive. He will survive.

Claymiller was peacefully sleeping when he was suddenly awakened. He discovered that he was in a bed of fire, the flames leaping high into the room. Suffering intensely from the burns he had received before awakening he jumped out of bed and rushed downstairs to a bowl of water, which he attempted to throw on himself, but without success, his right hand being badly burned and he was not able to do much with his left hand.

NOW TO BESIEGE ZAPATA AND VILLA

Carranza's Crowd at Vera Cruz Are Outlining Next Move.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 26.—The occupation of Mexico City by the forces of Gen. Zapata and the apparent understanding that has been reached between this southern leader and General Villa, appear to be pleasing rather than otherwise to Gen. Carranza's supporters here who, it is supposed, re-entered Carranza opposition in this respect.

In general the plan now will be to besiege Zapata and Villa, cutting every railroad and starving them into surrender, if possible, but forcing their capitulation at that point in any way which may become necessary. Sidro Fabla, Carranza's minister of foreign affairs, who has located his office here, expressed the conviction last night that the task of subduing Zapata and Villa would not be nearly so difficult as appeared.

He admitted that the consequences for Mexico City would be bad. He also admitted that already there had been received news that followers of Zapata had sacked certain parts of the capital, although there were no reports to indicate the extent to which this had been carried out, but he regarded this as one of the necessary consequences incident to warfare. Just who is in control of Mexico City is not known here by the Carranza officials, according to Senor Fabla. It is reported that neither Gen. Zapata nor Gen. Villa actually is in the city, but that they have sent forward one on whom they agreed as their representative.

FORT WAYNE GIVES THANKS

Business is Practically Suspended in the Entire City.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

King Turkey Reigns Supreme in a Majority of the Homes.

In accordance with the proclamations of President Woodrow Wilson and Governor Samuel M. Ralston residents of Fort Wayne are observing Thanksgiving day.

Business has practically been suspended and the day is being spent in various fashion, principally, however, in the giving of thanks. Special Thanksgiving services were held in many of the churches, the pastors preaching appropriate sermons and the choirs rendering music in keeping with the day.

The various benevolent organizations have been exceedingly active in providing turkeys and eatables to those less fortunate. An effort has been made to make glad and fill with thanksgiving the hearts of those to whom Thanksgiving day would mean very little if it were not for these societies and those charitably inclined. Trustee Henry E. Branning also has been very busy and on Wednesday furnished an unusually large number of grocery orders.

King turkey reigns supreme and as he is not subject to the hoof and mouth disease, he was really in greater demand this year, if that is possible, than ever before. Thousands of turkeys were disposed of in Fort Wayne by local dealers and farmers, many of whom sold direct to the consumer. The demand was almost greater than the supply, for thousands have been shipped to the eastern market during the last few days, there being no embargo, as is the case on live stock.

Stores Are Closed.

Nearly every store in the city is closed for the entire day. None of the banking institutions are open and both county and city officials are taking a vacation, except the police and firemen, who are always on the job. All barber shops also are closed.

The regular morning delivery of the mail was made by the city carriers [illegible]

EDITOR BEFORE JUDGE ANDERSON

Terre Haute Man Secures Habeas Corpus Writ in Federal Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 26.—Dennis Shea, sheriff of Vigo county was to appear before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States district court here at 3 o'clock this afternoon with Charles Clogston, editor of a Terre Haute newspaper, who was sentenced to jail for alleged contempt of court, in answer to a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Anderson last night.

The writ was issued at the request of James A. Cooper and Everett Sanders, Clogston's attorneys, and was based on the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution, which declares "nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law." The petition for the writ contends that Clogston was deprived of his liberty without due process of law.

Clogston was ordered to pay a fine and sentenced to jail by Judge Eli H. Redmon because of an article appearing in Clogston's newspaper regarding the selection of a grand jury to investigate alleged election frauds and which the court held reflected on the integrity of the court.

Merrill Wilson, chief United States deputy marshall, went to Terre Haute last night to serve the order on Sheriff Shea.

FACE CHARGE OF MURDER ATTEMPT

Indianapolis Woman and a Male Companion Taken Into Custody.

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Christina Curtis, 30 years old, 244 East New York street, and Ray Davis, 23 years old, a porter in the California House saloon, were arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, and both are held under bonds of $1,000. George Curtis, the husband of the woman under arrest, reported to the police last Sunday night that his wife, from whom he was separated, went to his room at 1604 South Meridian street, accompanied by a strange man, and attacked him as he lay in bed. He was stabbed three times in the chest by Mrs. Curtis while the stranger held him, Curtis told the police.

Mrs. Curtis admitted yesterday, the detectives say, that she instructed Davis to cut the telephone wires leading to her husband's room. Davis said Mrs. Curtis told him a man inside the house might cause trouble and asked him to cut the wires. He did not know she was married, he said, and accompanied her to the South Meridian street address when she told him she wanted to get her clothing out of a room in which she formerly had lived. Davis said he met Mrs. Curtis at the California House a few hours before he accompanied her to 1604 South Meridian street.

Both Lelita and Dolores Boggs, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Boggs, 129 East Washington street, are in a serious condition as the result of being struck by an automobile owned and driven by J. Mr. and Mrs. Boggs had come to Fort Wayne to spend Thanksgiving day with Chester Chapman, 1029 Glasgow avenue.

NEWS OF THE COURTS.

It is related to the superior court by Emma B. Dyer in her divorce complaint against Frederick E. Dyer that on Wednesday, November 25, 1914, she was violently attacked by her husband, who struck her with his fist, knocked her down and threatened to dash her brains out then and there. Notwithstanding it was the day before Thanksgiving, Mrs. Dyer resolved to stand not another minute for Frederick's rough stuff and went right down to a lawyer and had a complaint drawn and the document filed. The two were married in August, 1908, and the plaintiff says that her spouse for a long time has indulged himself in an excessive use of strong drink, and that during the past two years he has, drunk or sober, treated her with great cruelty and inhumanity, has threatened to do her bodily injury and even threatened her life. She declares she is in fear of him and asks the court to restrain him from visiting her at her home, 721 Prospect street. Mrs. Dyer also asks $1,000. The defendant is in business as a furrier, 111 Washington boulevard west.

Says Wife Abandoned Him.

John Rost charges that in October, 1913, Grace Rost, whom he made his wife in July, 1911, packed up and wholly without fault or blame on his part abandoned and deserted him. They had no children and he does not want to be encumbered with so useless a burden as a wife who will have nothing to do with him. The superior court is asked, therefore, to grant him a divorce.

Al Gaines Gets Sixty Days.

Albert Gaines, who laid an ax upon George Hughes' skull with such effect as to fracture it and almost send Hughes on a one-way trip to the shining shore, was found guilty in the circuit court of assault and battery and given sixty days in jail. The jury retired late in the afternoon and did not report until 9 o'clock. The men involved in the fight are colored. Hughes' white wife, whose leaving him for refuge in the Gaines home led to the fight, sat beside Hughes in court. Hughes is Gaines' stepson.

Notes of the Courts.

Action has been brought in the circuit court by Philip Mehl against Frank Miller to recover $100 for work and labor performed.

The superior court has set down for trial on January 21 the suit of Jesse O. Smith vs. E. C. Rurode, et al., and on January 29 the suit of Dallas Butler vs. the Indiana Refining company.

J. Milton Rosenthal has filed suit in the superior court against Louise Wiebke for $300 on account.

JUDGE YAPLE OUT OF CITY.

Hon. Carl Yaple, judge of the superior court, has designated Benjamin F. Heaton to act as judge pro tempore in that court during the absence of Judge Yaple from the city in Mendon, Mich., whither he was called by the illness of relatives.

PLEAD GUILTY; ARE BOUND OVER

Three Young Shoplifters Will Be Disposed of in Circuit Court.

Mrs. Velma Myers and her sisters-in-law, Misses Millicent and Naomi Myers, the three young shoplifters arrested Wednesday by Detective Sergeant William F. Pappert and Officer Charles Eisenhut, through their attorney, William N. Ballou, entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny, in the city court, Thursday morning, and after a very brief hearing were bound over to the circuit court, the bond of each being fixed at $300. It is believed that some effort will be made to place the Myers girls under the restraint of a proper environment and give them a chance to turn their steps into better paths. From early childhood they have been without a father and their mother has been for years a helpless paralytic. Naomi, who is not yet 19 years old, has been out of the Allen county orphans' home less than three years. Her sister, Millicent, aged 20, has been making her own way, according to her statement to the court, for some five or six years. She also spent several years in the Allen county orphanage. Millicent is in a most unfortunate situation and now has pending in Justice Tancey's court a paternity suit against Harry Shrimp, a Pennsylvania shop employe. Several dry goods merchants were at police headquarters Thursday to look over the mass of plunder recovered from the rooms of the girls at 1628½ Calhoun street to try to identify property that may have been stolen from them.

Leininger is Bound Over.

John Leininger, who on Monday took his second wife and on Tuesday was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his divorced wife, was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of neglecting his children. His bond was fixed at $1,000 and he went back to jail. Judge Kerr told Leininger that his was in its circumstances the most flagrant case of child neglecting that had come before him in the city court. Leininger wanted to make a statement, but Judge Kerr told him to save it for Judge Eggeman, before whom he would probably stand in need of everything he could possibly say in mitigation. After being returned to his cell Leininger was visited by his two sons—young men able to take care of themselves. They evidently had called to say some words of sympathy and comfort to their parent, but Leininger tore into them with furious wrath and the boys were told by Stationmaster Degitz to leave.

Young Thief Promptly Captured.

Albert Bashara, a Syrian youth, aged 17, paroled from the reformatory for boys at Plainfield two years ago, was charged with petit larceny and a continuance entered until Friday. Wednesday afternoon Bashara went into the John Fredericks meat market, 1222 Wells street. While the salesroom was temporarily deserted Bashara sneaked in, nicked the cash register for $25.40 and fled. The police were notified and almost simultaneously from different points Detectives Joseph Brennan and Charles Spillner commandeered automobiles and hurried to the north side. They picked up young Bashara and after sweating him at headquarters got his confession and he took the officers to a place in the rear of his brother's dry-cleaning establishment, on Cass street, where he had secreted the money beneath a stack of iron pipe.

Other City Court Cases.

Frank Smith got $1 and costs and Charles Kress $5 and costs on loitering charges. They had been begging on the street and were picked up by Officer Paul. Both are Fort Wayne men.

Mike Ryan, Pat Keefe, Rudy Gerberding, John Slattery, George Lambright, Jim Dunn wandered into police station at various hours Wednesday night to ask for lodging and each of the sextet toted in a specimen of the barkeep's fine handiwork. The bum room was well filled with wayfarers who wanted to keep warm and sleep and the six souses were locked up. All pleaded guilty. Slattery and Keefe were continued until Friday and the others were turned loose. Mike O'Neal and Tom Burns, who were too drunk to be tried Wednesday, were allowed to go.

Walter Wheeler pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $1 and costs. He was one of the party that took the big Cadillac touring car of Frank Morches out on a joy ride the night of September 20 and wrecked the machine at Maumee avenue and Harmer street. Wheeler was badly injured and has not been long out of the hospital.

GILMARTIN CAR IS FOUND.

The Cadillac touring car belonging to Michael Gilmartin, stolen from the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets at some time between 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night and 1 o'clock Thursday morning, was found at 3 o'clock Thursday morning by Night Officer Dan Kintz. It had been abandoned at Butler street and Fairfield avenue. The car had been slightly damaged. Three young men who were loafing about midnight at the corner from which the car was taken are suspected of having stolen it for a joyride. Mr. Gilmartin was attending a meeting in Knights of Columbus hall when the car was taken.

MAY APPEAL FOR UNCLE SAM'S AID

Spread of Forest Fires in Southwest Grows More Menacing.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 26.—Federal aid may be asked to check the spreading forest fires that today were sweeping with renewed violence through the whole southeast portion of Arkansas and northern Louisiana. E. V. Visart, federal game warden, who returned from a visit to the fire swept area, said he believed it would be necessary for the government to assist before the fire could be conquered. Today was the eighth on which the sun has been obscured entirely in Little Rock by dense clouds of smoke.

The most serious individual losses yet reported occurred at Helena last night when sparks set fire to the Central Distilling company and the Linning Furniture company plants. Both were destroyed with a loss of $150,000.

In northern Louisiana concern is felt for the safety of many big oil plants in the Caddo parish, the largest oil field in the state. Fires are spreading rapidly in the district.

Mississippi river traffic south of Memphis is said to be almost at a standstill because of the difficulty in operating steamers through the dense smoke. According to weather forecasters no rain is in sight.

ELOPERS TAKE ADVICE.

Fifteen-Year-Old Girl Will Return to School and Lover Will Work.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 26.—Helen J. Knorr, the fifteen-year-old high school girl, who eloped with Thomas J. Prows, age twenty-one, to Covington, Ky., to get married, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Knorr. Miss Knorr said that she and Prows went to the home of his sister, in Covington, and when they told her their mission, the sister objected on account of their youth, and after considerable persuasion, they decided to take her advice to remain single for a few years. Miss Knorr will continue her studies with the junior class of the Lawrenceburg high school and finish the course, while Prows will continue his work and save his earnings until she is graduated. Then they said they will marry.

Cuban Outfielder Regrets His Jump to the Outlaws.

New York, Nov. 26.—Armando Marsans, the Cuban outfielder who jumped from the Cincinnati Nationals to the Federal league, has informed his friends in New York, according to reports published here today, that he desires to return to organized baseball and would like a berth with the New York Nationals. Marsans is said to be playing ball just now in Havana, stationed at first base under an assumed name. It is not generally believed here that Manager McGraw of the Giants will undertake to have the Cuban's name stricken from organized baseball's blacklist.

GERMANS LED INTO TRAP.

Petrograd, Nov. 26.—Semi-official advices received from Poland show that the German defeat at Lodz, culminating in the capture of a German army corps, was the result of a Russian maneuver by which the Germans were led into an inextricable trap.

The Russians' left wing, resting on the river Warta, and the Russian right wing on the Vistula, both lying along the Warsaw-Kalisz railroad, moved forward in unison in the last two days. Simultaneous the Russian center gave ground and the Germans followed, apparently relying upon a German column from Wielun to repulse the Russian left wing and to form a juncture with the main German forces.

NEW CASES OF CATTLE PLAGUE.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Five cases of foot and mouth disease in cattle and hogs have been discovered near Waterford, Va., in Loudoun county. Officials of the department of agriculture, working with Virginia authorities, may quarantine the county but do not believe it will be necessary to quarantine the state. The infected cattle came from Hagerstown, Md.

CAPTURE A MEINENWURFER.

Indian Troops Take Novel Gun from German Forces.

Washington, Nov. 26.—French foreign office dispatches saying the Indian troops had captured a "minenwurfer" from the Germans has reached the embassy here today. "The Minenwurfer," which despite its ability to destroy the French trenches, found itself worthless against bayonets according to the cablegram. Its German name apparently baffled the dispatch writer in finding a French equivalent.

The Minenwurfer or trench destroyer is a short range gun which drops explosives upon the earthworks and explodes them without scattering metal.

WILL REDUCE BORDER GUARD.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux on Friday morning will remove some of the special deputies who have been maintaining the armed guard on the Allen-Whitley border because of the presence of the hoof and mouth disease in Whitley county. All the guards will be dispensed with save those who are patrolling the line between Lake township, Allen county, and Union township, Whitley county.

PUPILS SING HYMNS AT SIGHT.

Washington, Nov. 26.—That 75 per cent. of the pupils in the grammar grades in 119 public schools out of 433 can sing an ordinary hymn at sight is disclosed in a report today by the federal bureau of education on its investigations of music teaching in American schools. The inquiry develops the fact that about 90 per cent. of the schools require music.

FOREST FIRES IN INDIANA RAGING

Hazelton, Ind., Nov. 26.—Forest fires started in three counties near here yesterday and still are fiercely raging. The loss of standing timber will be heavy, but will probably be eclipsed by damage to farm property and ungathered corn.

On the southern edge of Pike county yesterday afternoon a building on the Perry Hoover farm was destroyed by fire which swept through woods and across cornfields. The Hoover residence was saved by plowing furrows across the face of the blaze.

On the large Spain and Geiskie farms four miles south of here extensive fires are raging. The smoke is so heavy for miles around that travel is hazardous. At one point the fire is approaching the C. E. & I. railway track and the railroad company may have to send firefighters to save its property. The great strip of timothy in Knox county between the Wabash and White rivers is ablaze in several scattered spots. Timber owners are fighting hard to prevent further spread of the fire.

MANY HOMES IN DANGER.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 26.—A strip of Mississippi valley bottom land ten miles wide and fifty miles long is burning, and the largest cypress trees in the state are threatened with destruction. Many homes are in danger and state aid has been asked. A heavy pall of smoke has settled over this part of the state.

THE FINAL COMPUTATION.

Congressional Appropriations Foot Up to Vast Total.

TWENTY CARS LINE UP.

Corona Auto Race Promises Some Very Fast Going.

Corono, Cal., Nov. 26.—Twenty cars lined up for the start of the Corona automobile race scheduled for today. They were to travel the two and three-fourths mile circular track 109 times for $12,000 in purses. It was arranged to send the cars away on a flying start, four abreast. Although this method gives a second's advantage to those in the first row, it was adopted to obviate possible confusion in keeping the elapsed time of twenty cars on such a small circuit. The track was said by the drivers to be in shape for fast time.

FORTY HOGS ARE STOLEN FROM FARM

J. E. Tewksbury, Near Montpelier, is Robbed of Big Drove of Fine Fat Porkers.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 26.—The stealing of forty fine fat hogs from the farm of J. E. Tewksbury, cashier of the Purman, Johnston company store here. The hogs were taken at night and were not missed for several days after the robbery was committed. Wagon tracks into the place indicated that two wagons had been employed to haul away the porkers. One day last week Mr. Tewksbury took Sol Rea to the farm, where Mr. Rea purchased forty-three hogs from a drove of 130. Later Tewksbury butchered two of the remainder. Later, when Mort Chenoweth, who lives on another Tewksbury farm, inspected the drove, but forty-five remained. Forty were missing. Reports have been sent to stock buyers in cities in Northern Indiana to look out for these stolen hogs. After driving two or three days about the country Mr. Tewksbury has been unable to find any trace of the hogs. The loss at the market price of hogs is about $500, but for breeding purposes many of the stolen hogs were worth a great deal more than the market price.

THINKS HE SHAVED HOLDUP MEN.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—A slight trace of the two strangers who held up and robbed August Koenemann a week ago near Williams, has been obtained by the officers. Marshal Melchi was informed by a barber of Willshire, O., that he is confident that he shaved the two men the next morning after the robbery. When the barber reached his shop next morning, two strangers were waiting for a shave. From the description of the men which he read afterwards in the paper, together with the account of the hold-up, he is confident that they were the two offenders.

WARSAW SUBWAY COMPLETED.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 26.—The new Pennsylvania viaduct at the end of Market street has been completed and has been opened to the public traffic. By the opening of the new subway the old dangerous grade crossing has been removed where several fatalities have resulted in the past couple of years. The new viaduct was constructed at a cost of approximately $28,000, 75 per cent being paid by the Pennsylvania railroad and the other 25 per cent by the county. The new viaduct removed one of the worst grade crossings in this part of the state.

WANT HUNTING PROHIBITED.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—More than a hundred Adams county farmers have signed a petition presented to the board of county commissioners asking that hunting be prohibited until January 1 or thereafter if necessary as a precaution against the foot and mouth disease. No traces of the disease have been found in Adams county, and the petition is wholly precautionary. The commissioners have expressed themselves as favorable to the petition in case they have the necessary power.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Esther 8:1-9.

1 On that day did the king Ahasuerus give the house of Haman, the Jews' enemy, unto Esther the queen. And Mordecai came before the king; for Esther had told what he was unto her.

2 And the king took off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.

3 And Esther spake yet again before the king, and fell down at his feet, and besought him with tears to put away the mischief of Haman the Agagire, and his device that he had devised against the Jews.

4 Then the king held out the golden sceptre toward Esther. So Esther arose, and stood before the king,

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and the thing seem right before the king, and I be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to reverse the letters devised by Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy the Jews which are in all the king's provinces:

6 For how can I endure to see the evil that shall come unto my people? or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?

7 Then the king Ahasuerus said unto Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, because he laid his hand upon the Jews.

8 Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse.

9 Then were the king's scribes called at that time in the third month, that is, the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day thereof; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded unto the Jews, and to the lieutenants, and the deputies and rulers of the provinces which are from India unto Ethiopian, a hundred twenty and seven provinces, unto every province according to the writing thereof, and unto every people after their language, and to the Jews according to their writing, and according to their language.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1914

Thanksgiving Day.

Doubtless no time in all the span of years from the first Thanksgiving day in America down to the present moment has there been an anniversary when the people of the United States have been furnished with occasion for more sincere and deeper observance of the festival of Thanksgiving than in this year of grace, 1914. That fact should make very real the significance of today. At the first flash of contemplation one's mind inevitably turns to the contrast supplied by war-torn and bleeding Europe and peaceful America. That is because that situation is altogether biggest in the world's eyes. Yet it does not constitute our entire reason for gratitude; it merely emphasizes the occasion for it.

If contemplation of that contrast shall serve today to give us a deeper appreciation of the significance of the American Thanksgiving and enable us to catalogue more carefully our own blessings, the result will be beneficial to all of us. The average man takes much as a matter of course. He is not inclined to place emphasis upon a good many things that may be fairly accounted blessings. Health, friends, comforts, a reasonable degree of prosperity and scores of other enjoyments are accepted as the natural order of things, and yet they make up the sum total of what makes life worth while. We ought to take account of them today as never before.

As a matter of fact, one day each year is much too brief a time in which to pause and "take stock" of ourselves much as does the merchant and the manufacturer. It will help mightily if an occasional rest from daily activities, the gaining of a livelihood, the struggle for advance, the accumulation of wealth or the fight against adverse circumstance enables us to get into a little closer communion with ourselves and see how nearly we approximate in deserts the over-balance of richness in life and in experience if not in dollars that the yearly account will most surely reveal. Thanksgiving day is splendid once a year; it would be much finer if its sentiments could be extended over all the rest of the days as well.

Thanksgiving day observance has changed with the times since Governor Bradford massed his pilgrim colony for that first general recognition years ago. We have found a larger scope for holiday activities and new methods of expression. Not all are commonly accounted as in absolute line with the sentiment of the holiday, but if the feasting and the frolics serve to carry with them at least some degree of appreciation of what Thanksgiving day really means, they are not without their admirable qualities. It is chiefly essential that in whatever wholesome paths the day may lead there be in our hearts deep and abiding gratitude to God for His infinite mercies and His uncounted blessings.

So, however you celebrate Thanksgiving today, do not lose sight of the real spirit of the holiday. Things during the past year may not have gone quite as you had hoped. Plans may not have been entirely realized. Some measure of success or of happiness you sought may still lack realization in the fullest abundance, but a careful search backward into the past year can scarcely fail to bring occasion for thankfulness to the people in this peace-blessed and God-favored land of ours today.

TO ABOLISH ELECTIONS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Still another case of "electoral fatigue" is reported from North Dakota, where a movement is on to reduce the number of elections by making the legislative and executive terms in the state four years. What with national and state primaries, local and state and national elections life in North Dakota, the dissatisfied say, has become one continuous political campaign. In the more thickly populated states voting places are reasonably close and little time is required to exercise the right of suffrage, but in the Dakotas it means a serious interruption of work. Then the cost is something to consider. Each primary costs about $100,000, and each election 25 per cent. more. Another saving of $150,000 would be gained, it is urged, by substituting quadrennial for biennial sessions of the legislature, to say nothing, as the cynics point out, of the economy of avoiding unnecessary legislation.

A further suggestion is that when the terms are made four years, it be decreed impossible to elect a man for consecutive terms. This, it is thought, would reduce the political temperature and tend to greater quiet. But three state offices, governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer, would be elective, the rest being appointive. A short ballot, long terms and no re-election is North Dakota's hope of finding time to attend to its ordinary business undisturbed by spellbinders and handshakers. It is symptomatic of a popular weariness of too much politics.

windows were open until 10 o'clock a. m.

Several events have been planned for the day, probably the biggest being the football game between the Friars and the Walsh hall team from Notre Dame. This evening the Friars will enjoy a banquet at the Anthony hotel. There were Thanksgiving day dinners and family reunions galore and also many social gatherings, especially this evening.

The school children of the county are enjoying a day's vacation. Both the railroads and the various traction lines have made extra provisions to take care of the tremendous crowds that always travel on Thanksgiving day. Several special cars were run on the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana traction line.

Origin of the Day.

While Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American institution, days of thanksgiving in recognition of special mercies have been common to all Christian nations for centuries, yet, since the annual celebration of the Feast of Ingathering by the Jews, no other nation [illegible]

with the ninety Indians there were plenty to provide for.

The first thanksgiving service held in North America was observed with religious ceremonies conducted by an English minister in the year 1578, on the shores of Newfoundland. This clergyman accompanied the expedition under Frobisher, who settled the first English colony in America. Another similar service was held by the Popham colony, who settled at Sagadahoc on the Maine coast in 1607.

Many Dinners.

Thanksgiving dinners were given by the Elks, Buffaloes, Eagles and a number of other lodges. A special entertainment has been provided for the members of the Turnverein and their families at the Turner hall. All families were expected to take with them well filled baskets and at 6 o'clock supper will be served. At 7:30 o'clock a program will be given on the auditorium stage.

Annual "donation day" was observed Thursday afternoon at the Lutheran hospital.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux provided for a special dinner for the prisoners in the county jail, with roast chicken heading the list. There was a special dinner at the Allen County Orphans' home and county farm. Superintendent Bliss arranged a special dinner for the inmates [illegible]

he did not have presence of mind to call for help, but fortunately the flash of light passing his mother's room awakened her and with a scream she leaped from her bed and by throwing bedclothing around her son's body succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Both of Claymiller's limbs were seriously burned, also his entire left side, but fortunately he did not inhale any of the flames or death would have been inevitable.

Origin of Fire.

Hanging from the ceiling is an electric light which nearly touches the bedclothing. It is believed that the heat from the globe set fire to the bedclothing while Claymiller lay asleep and it was no time until the entire bed was a mass of flames. The fire was extinguished without having to call the department.

Claymiller is a boilermaker at the Wabash boiler shop. His burns were dressed by Dr. C. F. Knadt.

SEEKING A NEW MARKET FIELD

Indiana Canners Reach for Big Trade in South America.

Washington, Nov. 26.—At the request of Indiana canners, the state department is trying to persuade the government of Brazil and Argentina to reduce the import duties applying to American canned products. That it will be successful in its efforts is the prediction of the diplomatic representatives of those South American countries.

In a letter to Secretary of State Bryan, C. W. McReynolds, general manager of the Kokomo Canning company, of Kokomo, said that there are enough people in South America to consume at least twenty million cases of canned goods yearly; that half of that quantity would prevent the piling up of a surplus in years of an overproduction; that owing to the high duty it is impossible for American canners to export canned goods to South America.

He and other Indianians interested in the canning industry invoked the assistance of the state department to bring about a change in the tariffs on canned goods and without delay Secretary Bryan asked the American embassy at Rio de Janeiro and the American legation at Buenos Aires to persuade the governments of Brazil and Argentina to reduce the tariff on canned goods imported into the South American countries from the United States.

Effort Is Discussed.

"An official of the state department, in discussing the effort to have the tariff on canned products imported into South American countries from Indiana and elsewhere reduced, said: "Ambassador Morgan has continued energetically to impress this subject on the attention of the Brazilian foreign office. This department is in receipt of a dispatch from him saying that he has prepared and forwarded to the Brazilian minister for foreign affairs, with the request that he transmit it for the consideration of the minister of finance, a note on this subject, accompanied by a memorandum.

The following is an extract from the ambassador's report:

"'Should the finance minister follow the course which he usually adopts with memoranda of this character, he will refer them to the finance committee of the chamber of deputies, to whom the new tariff schedules will probably be sent for consideration. These schedules have been prepared by a tariff revision committee consisting of customs employes, sitting under the direction of Dr. Crescentino B. de Carvalho, inspector general of customs. There will be an occasion for the embassy to make further representations on behalf of American canners and other exporters when the finance committee of the chamber is studying the schedules.'

American Charge Diligent.

"The American charge at Buenos Aires also has been diligent, as shown by his recent dispatches, in urging the government of Argentina to reduce the import duties applying to American canned products. In a recent dispatch he expressed himself as confident that no changes in the tariff will be made during the present calendar year, but that his representation had been referred by the foreign office for the consideration of the tariff commission whenever that body should be organized. A subsequent dispatch from the charge transmits a bill for amending the tariff of Argentina, recently presented to the chamber of deputies by the socialist party.

Merchants Buying in U. S.

In view of the fact that the interruption of trade between Latin American countries and Europe, due to the European war, has led merchants of South America to seek supplies in the United States, and his suggestion from an interested American chamber of commerce that merchants and commercial bodies of Brazil and Argentina probably would co-operate in an endeavor to persuade the governments of those countries to make reductions in import duties, the embassy of Dio de Janeiro and the legation at Buenos Aires were instructed recently to make supplemental representation to the foreign offices of Brazil and Argentina in respect to reductions of duty on canned goods, unless in a judgment of the diplomatic representatives local conditions render States and the Latin American countries."

Indiana Products in West.

Testimony given before the interstate commerce commission recently by traffic experts of various railroads shows that shipments of vegetables and meats canned in Indiana are being made to the Pacific coast in large quantities, through the Panama canal. It is pointed out that much of this traffic is destined to Central and South American countries. It is confidently expected that if the state department, through its diplomatic agents in Brazil and Argentina is successful in its effort to have those countries reduce the import duties applying to American canned products, that the canning industry in Indiana and elsewhere will receive much benefit.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

RURAL CREDITS NOW LOOMING UP

Some Guesses on Program of Congress at Short Session.

(By Gilson Gardner)

Washington, Nov. 26.—Rural credits legislation was pledged by the administration and must be passed at the coming short session. When the federal reserve bill was pending, congressman from rural reserve districts demanded something which would be a direct help to the farmer. They were told that their proposition embarrassed the administration's effort to pass the bankers' bill and that if they would consent to wait, a separate bill would be passed providing rural credits. Conferences have been in progress during this week in this city between representatives of the granges and members of the senate and house committees interested in this legislation. Senator Fletcher of Florida has been trying to revive the Fletcher-Moss bill, while the grange people are pushing for the plan advocated by Herbert Quick which is opposed to bankers, intervention and contemplates cooperative organizations among the farmers similar to those in France and Germany. Representative Bulkeley of Ohio has advocated some measure of government aid in the form of loans at low interest of government funds to farmers.

Government ownership of telephones telegraphs is to be pushed to the front again this session. Postmaster General Burleson is in favor of this legislation but at the last session was asked by President Wilson to hold the matter in abeyance while the administration concentrated public attention on its main objectives—the repeal of canal tolls, the banking legislation and the trust program. Now, with these things out of the way, the Postmaster General sees no reason for further delay. He will be cordially backed by Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, who has put in many months of work investigating the subject and is thoroughly equipped to present it to the house.

As an employer of labor Uncle Sam is about the meanest in the business, judging by compensation paid to injured workmen and the families of those killed. Five years ago a federal workman's compensation law was passed covering artisans and laborers in manufacturing establishments, arsenals and navy yards, river and harbor, fortification work, and hazardous employment in the reclamation service and on the canal zone. Later this act was extended to include all isthmian canal employees, and persons engaged in hazardous work in the bureau of mines, the light house service and the forest service. About 95,000 persons are covered by the provisions of this law, somewhat less than one-fourth of the civilian employees of the federal government.

Since the passage of the act almost every state in the union has provided state laws on the subject of workmen's compensation. Judging by the amounts paid to injured workmen under the federal law Uncle Sam is less generous than any of the states and is a poor model for employers. For instance, it is found that a fracture of an arm or leg has been compensated on the average by payments of less than $25; the loss of an eye between $25 and $50; and the loss of both legs has been settled on the average of $377.40. Of fatal cases on the isthmian canal, the compensation averaged $410.77, while fatal cases elsewhere were settled at an average of $722.31. These figures cover an average based on 3,320 non-fatal cases, and fifty-six fatal cases during the past year. The small amounts of compensation under the act as compared with compensation under the various state laws, are due to the fact that under the federal law compensation payments limited to usual wages in cease when the injured employe is able to resume work, and in any case cannot continue beyond twelve months. Under the more recently enacted state laws, compensation, usually on the basis of one-half or two-thirds the average wages, is paid in case of temporary disability during disability, or in case of death or permanent disability for a period extending to six years, and in several states to eight years.

The demands on diplomatic etiquette are manifold and diversified, as witness the fact that when Cristobel Pankhurst, the eldest daughter of the noted British militant Emmeline Pankhurst, was entertained in this city at a private Sunday afternoon tea, the Russian embassy (Russia now being on intimate terms as an ally of Great Britain) felt it necessary to pay a social courtesy to Britain's noted daughter by telephoning for permission to send to the reception an official representative of the Russian embassy staff.

ECZEMA BURNED SO NEARLY WENT CRAZY

Like Ringworms on Face and Neck. Later Formed White Scales. Spread. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

354 Plum St., Youngstown, Ohio.—"Blotches like ringworms started to come out all over my face and neck. Later it took the form of white flakes and when I would rub, they came off in little white scales. The eczema also disfigured me that I was ashamed to go out anywhere. It itched all the time and whenever I perspired or got my face the least bit, wet, it would burn until I very nearly went crazy. The more I rubbed or scratched the more it spread and it made me so restless I could not sleep at night.

"I used one remedy after another, ——, —— and two or three others that were made at home, but none of them did any good and I was despairing of ever being cured. One day a friend prevailed upon me to get a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They caused the itching to stop instantly and in a very few days my face and neck began to show a marked improvement. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and my face and neck are completely cured." (Signed) Newton D. W. Chapman, Feb. 27, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a sample of each with 32-p. Skin Book will be sent free upon request. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Bartholomy—Carroll.

Miss Genevieve Cecelia Carroll and Mr. Louis Bartholomy were married in St. Patrick's church on Tuesday morning. Rev. J. F. Delaney celebrated the nuptial mass and many friends of the bride and her family were present to witness the marriage ceremony. Miss Bernadette Niezer and Mr. Joseph Carroll, of Huntington, a brother of the bride, were the attendants. The bride wore a blue broadcloth suit with a hat matching it in coloring, but trimmed with yellow burmundy. The bride's flowers were sunburst roses and the blouse she wore with her suit was of white silk and lace. Miss Niezer also wore a blue suit with a black hat trimmed with red roses and her flowers worn as a corsage were Richmond roses to correspond with her hat. Only the immediate family relatives attended the wedding breakfast, served at the bride's home in West Williams street. Later in the day the bride and groom went to Chicago, where they will visit Mr. Bartholomy's mother. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomy will be at home in an apartment in West Jefferson street. Mr. Bartholomy is manager of the National meat market. His home was formerly in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll, of Huntington, and their son, Kenneth, were the only guests from away. The bride is a bright and interesting young woman, very popular with her many friends.

Mrs. Minnie Burger and Mr. W. E. Wiseman were quietly married on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Burger's daughter, Mrs. F. C. Crawford, of 1119 Nelson street, by Rev. Arthur J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church. A recent bereavement in the family of the bride caused the number of wedding guests to be limited to immediate relatives and a few of the most intimate friends.

MARRY IN HILLSDALE.

Many Fort Wayne Couples Go to Michigan to Be Married.

William James Stuck and Laura Belle McKenzie were married in Hillsdale, Mich., on Tuesday by Rev. Louis DeLamarter, of the Methodist church. Another Fort Wayne couple married by the same minister very recently was Raymond Edward Mosher and Pearl Ethel Thorp. Rev. C. M. Cure, of the United Brethren church, performed the marriage ceremony on Tuesday for Julia Riehl and Elsworth C. White, and Nellie Tracey and Jesse Ferris eloped to Hillsdale on Wednesday, were married and returned home in the evening. A number of young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris heard of the elopement and met the bride and groom on their return home and escorted them to their residence. William O. Richey, an employe at the Packard piano factory, and Miss Virginia Masterson, of Bluffton, eloped away to Hillsdale and were married on November 14 by the Baptist minister, Rev. T. B. Martin. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Masterson, have just announced the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Rickey will make their home in Fort Wayne and will keep house in Cottage avenue. Mr. Rickey was formerly from Three Rivers, Mich.

INDIANAPOLIS MAN CLAIMS FORT WAYNE BRIDE.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MAIBUCHER.

A quiet wedding of today is that of Miss Margaret Kleber, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kleber, of South Hanna street whose marriage to Mr. William Maibucher, of Indianapolis, takes place this afternoon at the rectory of St. Peters' Catholic church. Rev. Charles Thiele is the officiating priest. Miss Bertha Frame and Mr. Arthur Lauer act as brides maid and groomsman and as witnesses to the marriage. The bride wears a tailored broadcloth suit of the shade known as the new Russian green. A delicate pink chiffon blouse combined with silk and white net gives a lovely touch of color to the bride, who is a striking brunette in type. A large black velvet hat with pink top facing, an edge of monkey fur and pink tips sets off the green of the suit and lends an elegant appearance to the bride's costume. The bride wears a corsage of pink roses. Only immediate relatives are asked to the wedding and Thanksgiving dinner at the home of the bride. Pretty decorations of the season's colors are effective on the table. The bride and groom will make their home in Indianapolis at the Richlew apartments. Mr. Maibucher is bookkeeper for the Frank A. Witt commission and brokerage house. The bride is bright and attractive and a favorite with many friends.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"The Chalk Line," in which Harlan E. Knight, the famous funmaker will star at the Temple in the bill for the closing half of the week opening this afternoon, is a playlet actually founded on an episode in real life and even now is being dramatized into a four-act comedy by Miss Una Clayton. The sketch deals with the life-long enmity of two irascible old backwoods Maine small towners, and the action is replete with comedy situations that make the one-act play a little gem.

When this bill shall have finished its run at the Temple the house will be ready to make its debut as a burlesque theater, booking the Barton circuit list of high-class refined shows. The Froliques of 1914, Jean Bedini's classy combination of entertainers, will be the debuting attraction running all of next week at the Temple.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Bringing Up Father" at the Majestic Today.

The character of "Father" in George McManus' cartoon creation of "Bringing Up Father" takes us back to the days of Barry and Fay, the real Irish Tads. Gus Hill's prpoducton, framed from the McManus pictures, offers excellent opportunities for hilarious comeedy and when you have witnessed a performance of "Bringing Up Father" you will agree that that master of stagecraft has not overlooked a single point. "Bringing Up Father" is destined to be more than successful. Indications are that it will break all box office records. You can't stop the natural progress of time, of course, even in two years matters theatrical have advanced a step. "Bringing Up Father" has the advantage of Mr. Hill's former productions; it's right up to the minute in every detail.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Thanksgiving day brings a show of high class to Fort Wayne, one which will make everyone who sees it thankful that he has attended the Empress. The headline act is Buch Brothers in a most entertaining gymnastic and comedy hit called "Ship Ahoy." In this act they have hundreds of laughs and they perform feats which keep the members of the audience in a constant state of merriment and smiles. It is a real laugh act and one that forms a most appetizing bit on a Thanksgiving menu.

Jones and Johnson, the famous colored comedians, are on this bill with a funny lot of stuff. They are comedians supreme and are laugh extractors of superior abilities. Yvonne, the accomplished woman musician, will play on the piano accordeon at the Empress during the last half of the week. She is the empress of all accordeon players. Charles and Sallie Dunbar contribute a song and dance act of great merit to this bill and Alvardo's Goats with a real novelty complete this bill.

Thanksgiving is a real day of thanks in Fort Wayne in that it gives local theatergoers the opportunity of seeing such a great bill.

THE ORPHEUM.

KING BAGGOTT IN "HUMAN HEARTS"

King Baggott, who is without a doubt the largest and most incandescent star in the Universal constellation, dominates an excellent Thanksgiving program in a powerful three-section drama, "Human Hearts."

The story itself was adapted from the original novel by Hal Reid and tells of Tom Logan, a blacksmith, who deserts his pretty rural sweetheart to marry a woman of the city. He is cast off by his family for this deed, and in after years finds a small degree of connubial bliss with his metropolitan wife. She, however, tires of the conventional life she is called upon to lead, and when an ardent old flame appears she accedes to his temptings and runs away, but not before they have killed the elder Logan, thinking they were making away with Tom. The boy is accused of the crime and serves a term in state's prison because of the circumstantial evidence produced. In after years, when he is released, he returns to his home town, the true criminals are apprehended and Tom is once more free to take his little country sweetheart to his arms.

The musical program today will include the "Semper Fidelis" march together with one of the quick stepping Von Tilzer compositions. "Way Down East Tonight." Miss Lyons has elected to sing "Where the River Kenmare Flows."

AT THE JEFFERSON.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

Is Leading Light on Jefferson Program In Ladies' World Prize Story.

"In the Glare of the Lights," the prize story which appeared in the Ladies' World a short time ago, and which has since been set to film by the Essanay company, will be the stellar attraction at the Jefferson today, with Francis X. Bushman in the titular leading role, assisted by every one of his sterling company.

Bushman is given numerous opportunities to display his versatility in this picture, taking the part of Glen Duval, a steel worker in the mills, who has an ambition to go on the stage. How he succeeds and the adventures that befall him after he gets there make a tale of unusual and gripping appeal.

"The Toreador's Oath" is a story of the passionate Latin. A powerful plot is unraveled amid a locale that is immediately recognized as the city of Madrid. A few bull fights enliven the rapid action of the story, which absorbs from introduction to fadeaway.

The last numbers are a couple of filmettes, one a Wiffles comedy and the other a scenic picture of Colombo, pictures in natural colors.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

To remove pitch, grease and tar stains soak in turpentine. Scrape off carefully with a knife all the loose surface dirt; sponge clean with turpentine.

Hard boiled eggs should be plunged into cold water as soon as they are removed from the saucepan. This prevents a dark ring from appearing around the yolk.

To revive withered flowers plunge the stalks in boiling water and leave them in it until it becomes cold. Then cut about one inch from the ends of the stalks.

There is nothing better to remove tar from white clothing than lard. Rub it well into the spot and then wash it out with soap and warm water.

Needles and pins will never rust in a cushion filled with coffee grounds. Rinse the grounds in cold water, spread on a sheet of paper to dry thoroughly, and then stuff the cushion.

To remove tar stains rub the spot first with lard and then with soap. Leave for an hour and then wash in hot water softened with ammonia. If traces still remain, rub with turpentine.

To make glass ware glisten, wash the glass and rinse in hot water, then plunge into cold water into which a handful of starch has been dissolved. Drain the glassware on towels until perfectly dry, then polish with a dry cloth.

If you wish to prevent green vegetables from boiling over, drop a piece of dripping the size of a walnut into the center of them, just as they commence to boil.

When making a steamed pudding put a piece of well greased paper over the top before tying the cloth. This will prevent the cloths from becoming greasy and they are no trouble to wash.

It is a good plan in darning stockings to hold the darning wool for a minute or two over the spout of a kettle of boiling water. This skrinks the wool, and when the stockings are washed there is no fear of mended parts shrinking and so tearing away from surrounding parts, so that the stockings last much longer.

Chamois leather is rather expensive, so that it is just as well to know how to clean it. Put into a weak solution of soda into which you have thrown some grated soap. Leave it for two hours and then rub it until clean. Finally rinse the leather in warm soapy water. Wring the leather in a linen cloth and dry quickly. It can also be rubbed dry and brushed until soft.

The nervous housewife who lives in constant dread of fire may, with very little trouble, make an extinguisher that will put out a blaze if used at once. All she needs to do is to put three pounds of salt in a gallon of water, and to this add a pound and a half of sal ammoniac. This liquid should be bottled, and when the fire is discovered it should be pour on it.

POSITIVE PEACE PROGRAM OFFERED

English Militant Suffragette Submits One Very Definite Plan.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 26.—For the first time in history the advocates of peace are offered a positive program. Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, the English militant suffragist, is responsible. Mrs. Lawrence has started on a campaign throughout the United States, the beginning of which has already been made in New York and Washington. Brushing aside the Carnegie societies and the sentimentalists, she gets down to the real thing when she demands that the women of the world demand peace on the following basis:

First, that the war-making power shall be brought under the control of the people; that it shall be, as she expresses it, democratized; in other words that some constitutional machinery shall be devised where none exists at present, by which the people shall exercise control over the foreign policies of their governments; that in carrying this out all treaties and alliances shall be ratified by representatives of the people.

Second, that as a first step to prevent wars, the manufacture of armaments shall be nationalized and the export of munitions of war from one country to another shall be made impossible.

Third, that at the conclusion of the present war the allies shall be held to their slogan that this is a war to end war.

Fourth, that at the conclusion of peace no province shall be transferred from one government to another without the consent of the population concerned: that this consent shall be obtained by a referendum vote of the inhabitants of such province, including women.

Fifth, that women as well as men shall be sent as representatives to the Hague conference.

Sixth, that the democracies of the world shall press for some kind of international agreement by which all nations shall put themselves at the back of any one law-abiding nation which is aggressively attacked or of any small country that is menaced by a larger power.

Seventh, that there be formed a senate of European nations for the discussion of international problems such as, the securing of sea ports or other needed commercial highways by purchase instead of by secret diplomacy, treachery or slaughter.

Mrs. Pethick Lawrence has discontinued her work as treasurer of the Women's Social and Political union—the militant organization of England—to work for this cause, which she names "conservative peace." She is not openly antagonizing the Andrew Carnegie "peacists," but her program is entirely unlike the negative and sterilized product of the professional peace foundations.

No mistake is more commonly made than the assumption that the congress which meets after an election is the congress which has just been elected. It is natural that people should suppose this. The fact is, however, the congress elected November 3 does not meet until a year from December 7 unless it is called in special session by the president. The congress which meets this December is the old congress. The reason for this almost unbelievable delay in meeting to carry out the expressed will of the election is to be found in the history of congress. When that body was created there were no railroads, no telegraphs, no steamships and the men elected were obliged to take journeys on horseback or stage sometimes requiring months. The constitution makers purposely left a sufficient interval for these journeys. In addition they were gentlemen who believed in the "sober second thought" of the people, and in "checks and balances" on what the people wanted. The long interval was one of the "checks." It is out of date and ought to be abolished.

HAVE SOME OSTRICH?

Chicago Restaurants May Try a Thanksgiving Change.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—"The ostrich is very nice. It's well browned and tender."

This is what Charles, the waiter, will say in some of the Chicago restaurants on Thanksgiving day. Ostrich is to be the piece de resistance in some cases, the chef d'ouvre in others, and something else French, if the makers of bills of fare can think it up.

An ostrich must weigh less than fifty pounds to give assurance that its meat is tender. The price is fifty cents a pound. If father takes one of the California birds home it will be only after he has parted with at least $25, but that is not so alarming, seeing that the new federal reserve bank opened for business recently.

A South Water street commission firm has received the first birds. They came from Arizona. R. H. Getting, of the firm, said two restaurants had invested in the birds for the Thanksgiving spread.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at the Sentinel office, on West Wayne street, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the visit

He's Thankful for His Face--the Funny One You've Seen in Movies

John Bunny Stops Feeding His $50,000 Countenance Long Enough to Tell Miss Hoffman Some Thanksgiving Day Stories.

(By Esther Hoffmann.)

"For what will I give thanks, eh?" chuckled John Bunny—the funny, sunny Bunny—prince of the realm of films—when I asked him for what special gift would he thank fortune on the day of thanksgiving.

"Why, girl alive, look in my face—there's your answer," fairly shouted the ponderous Bunny, for Bunny has as much voice as he has face.

"Is there another 'map' in the world like this?" demanded funny Mr. Bunny. "If there is it isn't in captivity—not yet. See what it's worth to me; made me rich; put money in my purse. Why, when it comes to coining 'chink,' the United States mint hasn't much on this 'mug' of mine.

"And they do say I'm popular with the public—and all on account of my elaborate face. A chap told me once that the 'Bunny face' was better known 'round the country than the Teddy Roosevelt teeth. That's saying something for my face; that's a face to give thanks for 365 days in the year, and if I wasn't so all-rolling fat I'd get down on my knees this blessed Thanksgiving day and say, 'Thank you, kind fortune, for my face.' I'll give thanks for it, anyway, but I'll sit down to it and be comfortable.

"Yet a face like mine is a great responsibility," sighed Bunny, not so funny now as he dwelt upon the serious side of the funny-face business.

"You see, my face being my fortune, I must feed it well. That's the big job of my life—feeding my face. It doesn't sound delicate, but it does make a murmur like $50,000 a year, so I don't mind.

"My face wasn't always so well fed, though," sighed John Bunny. "Memory slips back every now and then to a certain Thanksgiving when the good wife and the kids had just some dry bread and frankfurters for Thanksgiving dinner, and 'dad' didn't eat at all that day—and he didn't feel a bit funny.

"Put let me tell you about another Thanksgiving story. It happened in Philadelphia, but it isn't so slow. I was dining with a friend and doing justice to the spread when I thought I'd offer some apology for making the turkey platter look like Liege after the siege and I said, 'I believe the best way to show appreciation of a good meal is to eat heartily—you see I am polite.'" 'indeed,' retorted my hostess. 'You've carried politeness to the point of flattery.' It was a quick comeback and the laugh was on me, but it gave a good relish to a good dinner.

"Did I ever tell you about that oldest boy of mine?" queried Bunny. "No? Well, one Thanksgiving day I cautioned him not to eat so much turkey or there'd be no room for the pumpkin pie. 'I'm 'membering,' he said, 'and I'm saving my neck for the dessert.'"

And so John Bunny told his funny-Bunny stories and every yarn seemed to add another crease to the triple chin another little puff to the expansive cheeks of the face for which the "funniest man in the movies" gives devout thanks on Thanksgiving day.

Above, the best picture of John Bunny's face ever taken; below, John B unny telling Miss Hoffmann about the time he was too polite at a Thanksgiving day dinner.

JEALOUS WIFE TRAILS HUBBY

Mrs. Myers, Working in Disguise, Puts Affinities in a Panic.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Minnie Myers, disillusioned wife, has put the art of make-up to such extraordinary and sinister use that she has the "affinities" of this city into a panic.

Disguised as an old lame woman, this attractive but suspicious young matron followed her husband, Charles H. Myers, a real estate dealer, about the streets to cafes and other rendezous where she asserts she easily certified her fears regarding her husband's conduct.

So successful was her make-up that she often stood within a few feet of her husband while he talked with another woman, remaining unrecognized.

Now Mrs. Myers, who had him arrested on a charge of non-support, wants a divorce.

Here are some things she also alleges she watched him do at such times as she hovers near in the disguise of an old woman:

"Go to a cafe with a picturesque blonde and buy champagne on the day after he had upbraided his wife for spending 10 cents for breakfast.

"Move to an apartment so as to be near 'the other woman.'

"Enter a hotel with the blonde woman.

"Purchase woman's clothes, jewelry and groceries that were not delivered to his wife.

GRIPPING STORIES OF FRONTIER WRITTEN BY HOUSEWIFE.

BERTHE KNATVOLD MELLETT.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 26.—A quiet, dainty little woman who writes powerful stories of turbulence and soul-searching tragedies of the north, pulsing with the primitive, when she isn't washing dishes or baking pies for her husband in a suburban cottage here, is the latest discovery of a standard magazine which heralds her as another Jack London or Rex Beach. She is Berthe Knatvold Mellett, wife of a newspaper man.

The stories of Alaska responsible for her deserved fame are "The Woman From Three Above" and "The Man Who Was Afraid," thrilling episodes of the frozen lands which were published in the Red Book recently.

Mrs. Mellett got her training as a writer while "doing" feature work for Tacoma, Wash., papers. "The Woman from Three Above" was the first fiction she ever wrote, and brought her instant recognition.

Her typewriter is placed at a window [illegible] women were fought for with cave-man methods, when gold and passion, fear and hate ruled a hard and frosted land.

It is in a quiet and peaceful home atmosphere that this dainty author spins her tales of forthright wickedness and fury.

Mrs. Mellett, however, knows Alaska. She was there in 1900-01 when few if any laws of God or man "ran north of 53." She saw masked vigilantes go out at night and shoot down claim jumpers—witnessed much of the harsh justice with which harsher lawlessness was fought and subdued.

"When great things are happening," says Mrs. Mellett, explaining the lapse of time between the incidents she witnessed and her literary interpretation of them, "they do not seem great. You must wait and get a perspective of them to clearly see their significance."

Our Thanks to the Almighty

(In a letter to the editor of the Sentinel the other day, "Constant Reader" said: "Editor—There's going to be a new program for my family this Thanksgiving day. First thing, I'm going to thank God, in my heart if not on my knees, for all I've had during the year and for what I've still got. When I see homes burning, human corpses rotting, wives and children wandering, hungry and homeless, all over that beautiful foreign world, while I have my wife and babies in my arms, safe and cared for, my heart goes out to God. And so, on Thanksgiving morning, my children are going to hear their father talk some about the goodness of the Almighty, who has protected them from war, famine and pestilence, while millions of their fellow beings were suffering."

The editor offers "Constant Reader" and all constant readers of this newspaper the following psalm to read as an appropriate hymn to thankfulness to the Almighty on this 1914 Thanksgiving morn.)

THE NINETY-FIRST PSALM.

HE that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge, and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust.

Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

He shall cover thee with His feathers, and under His wings shalt thou trust: His truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor the arrow that flieth by day.

Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness, nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation.

There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

For He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder; the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

"Because he has set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

"He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

"With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation."

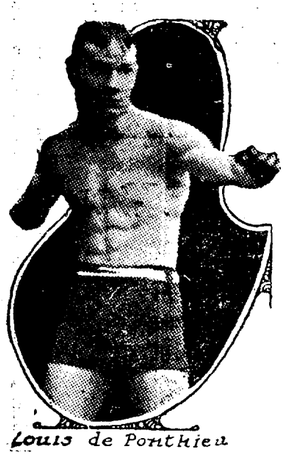
IS ON FIRING LINE.



Louis de Ponthieu

Louis de Ponthieu, the French middleweight, has answered his country's call and is now on the firing line, as is Georges Carpentier and the rest. Reports that Louis has been wounded have been prevalent, but none have been verified. Like Georges, Louis is losing a lot of money since fighting with bayonets replaced fighting with five-ounce mitts in Europe.

TEAMS READY TO FIGHT FOR GAME

Walsh Hall Foot Ball Eleven in City and Expects to Win.

Confident that it would win the Thanksgiving football game from the Friars, players on the Walsh hall team arrived in Fort Wayne from South Bend early Thursday morning fit to uphold the reputation of the University of Notre Dame in the encounter.

Fully convinced that they would be able to give the collegians a stiff argument in the encounter, the Friar players were all keyed for the struggle, and, realizing that they had a tough proposition on hand, were prepared to put on the best article they know how to play.

Patrons of the game were prepared to see the best football game of the year as a Notre Dame booking means always that every person who puts up the price of a ticket will get the full worth of the money invested and everything pointed to a good contest and a big attendance.

Before the big game the city championship will have been decided as the West End team and the Bachelors, who had eliminated their opposition in the preliminary skirmishes, were booked to battle for the honor and both clubs anticipated a victory. This game is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock and the kickoff in the Friar game will take place an hour later.

A parade with the Elks' band leading was on the program for the afternoon and the game is to be followed by the annual banquet. The clubs will line up as follows:

NOTRE DAME HAS BETTER CHANCE

New York, Nov. 26.—In the waning football season Philadelphia today stages the Thanksgiving holiday game of greatest interest in the east. There Cornell and Pennsylvania meet this afternoon with the Ithacans, generally looked upon as 2 to 1 favorites. In the intersectional contest, which brings Notre Dame to Syracuse, the westerners are believed to stand the better chance of winning. Football experts look for an easy victory by Brown over Providence. The eastern games include Lafayette vs. Dickinson, Vermont vs. Holycross, Washington and Jefferson vs. Bucknell, Pittsburg vs. Penn State, Villa Nova vs. Fordham and Rutgers vs. New York university.

PARTY RETURNS WITH 67 FISH

While they do not want it to leak out the members of the party who returned Wednesday morning after spending several days at Clear lake cisco fishing only caught sixty-seven fish. Heretofore they have caught them by the hundreds and without the least bit of trouble. This year there were sixty-seven measly fish caught and after several days of hard work and exposure.

No doubt it would be most difficult to get any of the members of the party to say how many fish were actually caught, nevertheless sixty-seven is the correct number. Charles A. Biederwolf, secretary of the Commercial club, admitted that fishing was not as good this year as usual, but further than that he would not talk.

Those in the party were Charles L. Biederwolf, Dan Clemens, Austin Stultz, Fred McCulloch, Dr. E. W. Dodez, Frank Martin, Bud Brokaw, Gordon Riggin and Larry Randall.

NATIONALS BEAT TURNERS.

The Nationals beat the Turner Juniors at St. Paul's auditorium last night by a score of 43 to 13. Superior speed and team play were the principal factors that enabled the Nationals to defeat a much heavier team. Hoffman and Stegner were the individual stars of the contest, having credit for fifteen baskets between them. Line-up and score:

Nationals—Hoffman and Stegner, forwards; Walda, center; Adams and Linnemaier, guards.

Turner Juniors—Kendricks, Reed and Oberwitte, forwards; Bauerle, center; Scherer and Ortlieb, guards.

Field goals—Hoffman, 8; Stegner, 7; Walda, 2; Adams, 2; Linnemaier, 1; Kendricks, 2; Bauerle, 2; Ortlieb, 1; Oberwitte, 1.

Goals on free throws—Adams, 3; Oberwitte, 1.

In the preliminary the St. Paul Juniors won from the T. C. C.'s by a score of 88 to 4.

ICE GIVES WAY.

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Comes Near Drowning in Delta Lake.

Harold Miller, 13 years old, narrowly escaped drowning Wednesday evening when the ice on which he was playing at the edge of the Delta lake gave way. He went entirely under the water. When he came up he grabbed hold of a branch of an old tree where he clung until rescued by means of a rope thrown to him by John L. Roussey, a neighbor. Miller is a son of George B. Miller, 1030 Crescent avenue.

New Style Foot Ball Will Stay and May be Improved in Time

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

There were a dozen old football men gathered in a box at the game between Minnesota and Chicago. Two men had won "Y's," there were two Dartmouth men, one Princeton veteran, a couple of ex-Illini and one of Michigan. Not one had played football in the last seven years, and most of them date back to the time when they formed flying wedges and trampled upon each other's countenances.

From the first kickoff there was nothing but quarreling and complaining and criticism of football as it is now played. Only two in the gang defended the new style of football. The others took the ground that it has been tamed down; ruined. They did not get warmed up at all until Minnesota started its straight line plunging in the final quarter and tore up Chicago's crippled defense.

"Ah," said one gloatingly, "that is more like the old time game."

It is only under such conditions that illustrate how much the game has changed. That is, there still remain some bad defects in the game and these seemingly not hard to remedy.

It certainly is [illegible] the game are [illegible]

Possibly the rule makers erred in barring the coaches from the field during play.

Of course, it is understood why this agreement was reached. It was because some coaches went too far, and, to correct this evil, the rule makers went too far themselves.

It has been proved repeatedly this fall that the teams need a cool directing head on the sidelines to prevent panics and one with the authority to remove players from games when they insist upon playing after being injured.

The veterans may complain all they please and criticise the new game; but their criticism will not stop the evolution of college football. The evolution is natural, and to a certainty there is going to be even further development of the game. This information does not come from the rule makers or from the coaches. It comes from observation.

A few days ago a swarm of youngsters were playing football, or practicing. They were throwing a football rapidly and accurately twenty, thirty, sometimes even forty feet, and throwing and catching [illegible]

DIRECTORS WANT BIGGER CIRCUIT

Heilbroner Will Soon Take Up Question of Adding Clubs.

Directors of the Central league are agreed that they want an eight-club circuit next season and the matter is in the hands of President Louis Heilbroner, who is back from a visit to his sister at Ardmore, Okla., which followed his stay at the Omaha meeting of the national association.

He expects that there will be some material changes in the topography of several of the minor leagues before the first of the new year and until this point is determined he will do nothing more than investigate conditions in the cities which have applied for admission to the Central.

This means, of course, that nothing definite was determined at the Omaha meeting. Unless he finds that he can expect some big advantages from adding three clubs and making the total eight he will just devote himself to securing one more to build back to six, where the matter stood before Sol Meyer quit at Springfield.

Until football has had its run there will be little doing in baseball. Mr. Heilbroner believes it is difficult to divide interest between the two sports and will keep quiet until it is time for his game to come out of winter quarters.

NINE GAMES THE LOGICAL NUMBER

Secretary Heydler is Opposed to New Idea in World Series.

New York, Nov. 26—The announcement that the national commission is in favor of an eleven game series to decide the world's baseball championship and a reduction in the prices has opened up a new line of argument which is already being traversed by every baseball man within hailing distance. Some favor it and some oppose it. There are good arguments advanced both pro and con.

"I am in favor of nine games being played," remarked John A. Heydler, secretary of the National league. "I think it would be a good change if for no other reason than it would afford more fans a chance to see the big games.

"Ever since the inception of the world's series," continued Mr. Heydler, "each autumn has been accompanied by grumbling and dissatisfaction. Those who have supported baseball throughout the season complain that they are unable to procure tickets for the world's series games. All hands cannot possibly be accommodated. When one or two hundred thousand persons want to see a series of games and there is room for less than onefifth that number at each game it stands to reason that thousands are going to be disappointed. Therefore by increasing the number of games more persons can see the series. All of them do not see all of the games."

This undoubtedly is a strong argument in favor of the nine game series. But there is another side to the question. A nine game series will not show any more than a seven game series. Any short series is necessarily a battle between pitchers. The difference between seven and nine games is not grat enough to make any material difference so far as the actual play is concerned, nor will it be any more of a test of the real strength of the competing teams.

There is something else that those who are opposed to lengthening the series advance. Most world's series have been decided without a seventh game being necessary. This shows that one or the other of the teams has had the edge from the start, and, naturally, the longer the series is prolonged the less intense will be manifested.

As to the lowering of the prices, the majority appear to be opposed to it, not because it means less money to the players and clubs, but because there is no way of being sure that by so doing the "fans" will be benefited. It will have a tendency to increase ticket speculation. There are always some who will sell their tickets to speculators and, since the demand to see the games will be just as great as ever, the "specs" will be able to sell the tickets for many times their face value and at big profits.

SPREADING RAILS CAUSE IT.

Special Thanksgiving Train in a Wreck Near Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 26.—A wreck believed to have been due to the spreading of the rails resulted in the death yesterday of Thomas Mattox, of Palestine, Ill., an engineer of the Illinois Central's special Thanksgiving train, which left Indianapolis at 10:45 o'clock bound for Bloomington. The train of four coaches moving backward was ditched at Trevlac, Brown county, twenty-five miles north of here. The wreck occurred at noon as the train was coming here to carry Indiana university students departing for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Fireman Martin Bogard and Conductor H. Overberg, both of Indianapolis, jumped from the train in time to save their lives. Bogard was slightly injured. W. C. Turpin, of Indianapolis, an operator, who was riding in the cab, was bruised.

W. R. Cullen

W. R. Cullen, who is representing Buffalo in the Interstate Three-cushion Billiard league tournament, seems to have hit his stride after a run of tough luck. Cullen is one of the "G. A. R." of the angle game and promises now to be a strong bidder for the championship honors. If he keeps up the pace he is setting Lean and Kling will have a hard time holding their advantage in the race as Cullen's specialty seems to be toppling the leaders. He is soon to go on a tour and will tackle all the leaders in their own rooms.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock is the time for the opening for the Inter-State Doctors' New Institute, which is located on the second floor, 205 West Berry street, and this will no doubt be a very busy day for these specialists. News of the wonderful cures being made by the new system of medicine in our neighboring states of Ohio and Illinois, has reached Fort Wayne and hundreds of sick people have been waiting this wonderful opportunity of being treated by the Inter-State Doctors. In the cities where the Inter-State Doctors have older institutes the great work that is being done by these specialists in the way of treating old chronic cases that could not even be helped by ordinary doctors and medicines, is well known, and these older institutes are always crowded with patients, many coming hundreds of miles to be relieved. In Fort Wayne, of course, their work is practically unknown, except to some who have seen cures made or to the readers of Ohio, Pennsylvania and eastern daily papers, or to progressive physicians who have read accounts of the work in the daily papers or medical journals. To those who have followed the career of the Inter-State Doctors it is evident that a new era is dawning in medicine, and that the day is not far distant when allopath, eclectics, and homeopaths of the old schools must drop their prejudices and work more for the good of humanity and less for the glory of their particular school of medicine. The day is not far distant when medical colleges will be founded to teach the new Inter-State system of practicing physicians—teach them to see the science of medicine from all sides instead of from the narrow view point of an allopath, homeopath or an eclectic.

The generous offer of the Inter-State Doctors of free examination and free treatment until cured, except a small charge for the medicine, which is extended to all patients accepted for treatment before Dec. 15, will bring them a large number of patients in a short time, and soon their work will be as well and favorably known here as in the cities where they have older institutes.

It is an invariable rule of the Inter-State Doctors to accept only curable cases for treatment. True, there are many cases that are incurable by the old methods which can be quickly relieved by the Inter-State Treatment. The Inter-State Doctors solicit the difficult or supposedly the incurable cases. Those which are beyond hope, which cannot be cured even by this system of medicine, will not be accepted for treatment at any price. The Inter-State want a clear record of all cases cured and no failures.

The Inter-State treat all curable cases of chronic diseases, including dropsy, blood poison, eczema, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, rheumatism, neuralgia, loss of nerve force, constipation, goitre, catarrh, epilepsy, indigestion, dyspepsia, weak back, bloating, scrofula, diseases of men and diseases of women. Any sick person is safe in going to the Inter-State Doctors. Their examination and consultation are free. Only [illegible] cases are accepted for [illegible] for that reason [illegible] [illegible]

Here's the Biggest Thanksgiving Dinner for One in the Whole United States Today

And the Biggest Eater in the Country Will Devour It—Sixteen Pounds of Food, and After George Rozalkes Has Consumed It, He Will Probably Still Be Hungry.

Preliminary Dinner.
(Eaten at 12:30 p. m.)
Four dozen little-neck clams.
Two dozen ripe olives.
Broiled lobster.
Lettuce, French dressing.
Coffee. Liquor.

DINNER.
(Eaten at 3:30 p. m.)
Two dozen Cotuit oysters.
Olives (two dozen).
Celery (three bunches).
Twenty-pound roast little pig.
Twenty-five-pound lamb.
One 25-pound turkey.
Oyster and chestnut dressing.
Cranberry sauce. Mashed potatoes.
Mashed turnips.
Lettuce and alligator pear salad.
Fruit.
Cheese. Nuts.
Coffee. Brandy.

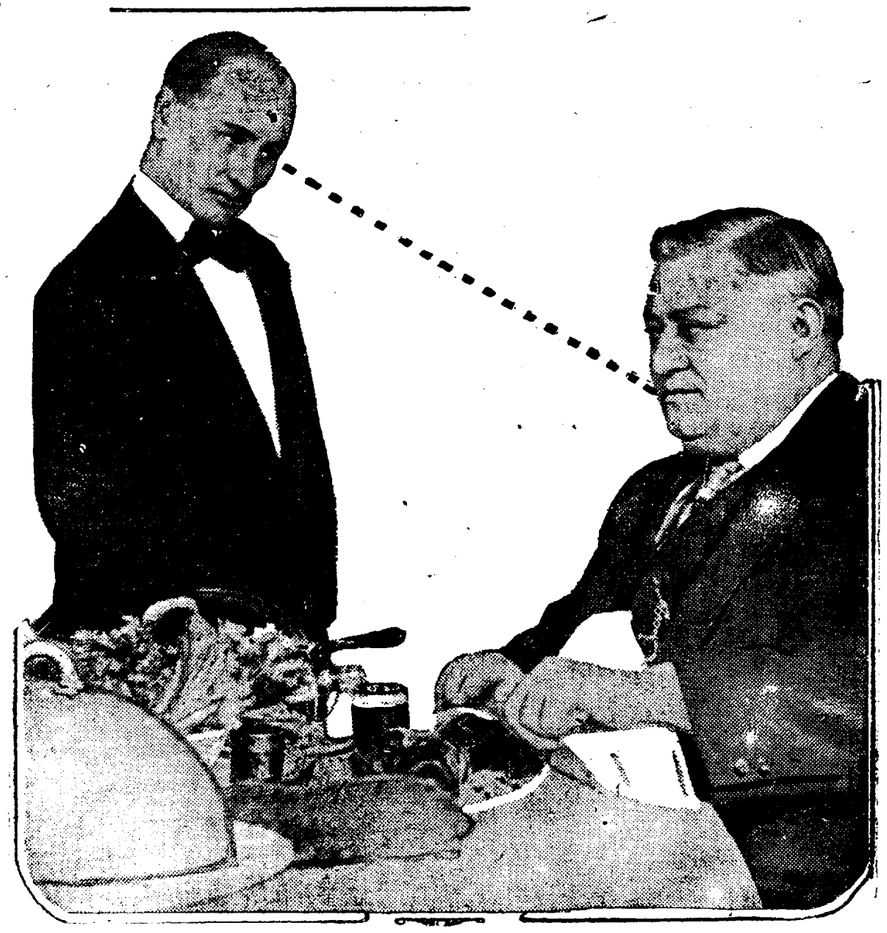
Chicago, Nov. 24.—George Rozakles will eat the biggest and perhaps the best Thanksgiving dinner of any person in the United States, and will eat it with thankfulness in proportion to his meal.

On Thanksgiving afternoon he will consume approximately sixteen pounds of food. His program for the day of thanks is all made, and he is duly thankful, for his florist shop prospers; his family living in his comfortable home on the south side, is healthy, and his appetite is good, although he confesses sadly it is not what it was when he was eating to contradict doctors and to prove to doubters that he could perform prodigious feats of gastronomy.

Thanksgiving dinner this year will be "just a simple, little, family dinner," as he says. Indeed, he is not strong on frilly, fancy dishes, but prefers the plain, straight cooking of good, solid food.

He will attend to business at his florist shop downtown until noon, then adjourn to Stillson's restaurant and eat "a light lunch" to take the edge off his appetite. He will have clams, his favorite ripe olives, a broiled lobster, lettuce with his own kind of French dressing, coffee, perhaps a bottle or two of ale and a brandy.

After thus "warming up" he will return to work and reach home in time for the real dinner about 3:30. A twenty-five-pound turkey will grace the board, for George and his family, and, besides there will be an array of side dishes that will make good the country editor's phrase, "Make the table groan."



George Rozakles, Chicago's champion eater, sitting down to one of his gigantic meals in his favorite restaurant.

Two days after this Thanksgiving feast George has a contest. He is to eat a twenty-five-pound roast lamb and drink twenty-five pints of beer at one sitting. "Sitting" is incorrect for while George sits at table while eating at home he stands while engaged in eating contests.

Dyspeptics are warned not to peep in at the window while George eats. He eats for pleasure, and it is a pleasure to watch him eat. While at table he cares nothing for the high cost of living. He enjoys himself and declares that with one exception he never has eaten anything he did not enjoy. That was the time he ate thirty-five quail in thirty-five consecutive days. The thirty-third one did not taste good, even though he finished by eating six at once, after the doctors declared the task impossible.

Besides being a remarkable eater, Rozakles is an excellent cook and loves to prepare his own dishes. He is a judge of food and is one of the best known men in the loop restaurants of Chicago. He does not care much for his reputation as an eater and often eats one lunch in one restaurant, then goes to another to finish up, so that his appetite will not be noticed. He is admitted champion around Chicago. A few have tried to eat against him, but, after watching him for an hour or two, they forfeit and quit.

If you will study George's appetite, you will see that he is a sensible eater, eats good things and healthy things. He loves clams and lobsters. He eats olives in large quantities, especially ripe olives, claiming they are excellent for the digestion.

He eats great quantities of celery, believing it one of the healthiest of foods. His salads are chiefly of lettuce and apples and celery, with a French dressing that he mixes for himself that is a dream, although he uses much oil.

He cares little for pastries or pies, loves fruit, and his desserts are usually of fruit. He eats fruit between meals. Rozakles says he always has had an enormous appetite, but not always the means to satisfy it.

He came from Greece, and is one of the most striking-looking men among the Greeks of Chicago. His hair is white, his face clear and complexion perfect, although he is well past middle age. His immense chest and shoulders hide any waist line that may be there. He is a well-proportioned, strong, healthy man.

THIS TURK MAY BE FEATURED "SISSY," BUT OFF RECORD SAVES HIS HEAD TODAY.

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—Male suffragism is spreading. It has invaded the bird kingdom. "Muscat," a prize-winning turkey gobbler, is the shining example.

Shattering all barnyard precedent, this remarkable old feathered monarch has assumed the most delicate domestic function of his kind, hatching and successfully rearing his second brood of young turks.

He is quite willing to sit tight and hatch eggs while the handsome hens of his harem are out gadding about at feathered pink teas and tango parties. Not one grumbling gobble does he emit. Inordinate pride fills his days and nights, for has he not performed the miracle of the ages!

"Muscat," who gained his name because of his fondness for white grapes, is the property of Miss Mary Shields here. Last year he hatched three chicks out of a possible six. This year he maintained his percentage by bringing forth eight chicks from sixteen eggs. It's become a regular habit with "Muscat" now. His owner's only fear is that the old gobbler will completely demoralize the turkey hens by showing them how easily they can evade their maternal duties.

"But," she says, "I can't find it in my heart to deny him this strange passion. He seems to get such profound joy out of it."

Muscat was not among those of his kind who graced the Thanksgiving table. He has proven himself too valuable for any such barren end.

Muscat, the remarkable gobbler, and some of the young turks he has successfully "mothered." Scorned by his fellow-gobblers as a "sissy," he has the laugh on them today, for he alone was spared the axe.

THE ARMY MULE'S LAURELS SECURE

Cannot Be Displaced Until American Roads Are Better.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The American army mule need have no fear for his laurels because of the great part gasoline motors have played in transportation problems of European armies in the present war. Until American roads generally are brought up to the high standard of the roads of Germany, France, Belgium and other European countries, the army mule will determine through his capacity for hauling, the limitation of operations for American military forces.

Only one branch of the United States army is giving serious attention to motor traction. In the quartermaster's department experiments are being made, particularly along the Texas border, with handling supplies in motor trucks. Motor trucks are in general use, of course, about army posts and wherever good roads are available; but when maneuvers take the columns into the field and the sandy or muddy country roads, where mere wheel tracks across the country are the only highways, the six-mule team is still master of the transportation situation.

A few years ago it was determined to experiment with motor transportation as a means to increase the radius of field artillery. The most available subject for this purpose was the battery wagon, carrying the forges for gun repairs and horseshoeing and also the saddler's equipment. One such wagon accompanies every battery of artillery in the field. It trails along in the rear of the column and does not go into action. Thus its activities are largely confined to roads although the battery itself must go cross lots by field and stream to take positions against an approaching hostile force.

General Crozier, chief of the army ordnance bureau, designed a motor battery wagon which was tried out in maneuvers. It proved a flat failure for it was so heavy that it broke through bridges, sunk to the hubs in soft roads and generally hampered the battery to which it was attached. The experiment was abandoned and the ordnance bureau is now content to await the results of the experiments of the quartermaster's department in self-propelled army transportation units. Mules and horses are good enough for American artillerymen as yet.

In connection with the newest heavy siege pieces designed for the American army it was proposed recently to experiment with European gasoline traction engines. Arrangements were under way for the importation of one of these at the time the European war broke out. Now every engine of that character has been turned to actual use abroad and instead of importing automobiles or motor trucks, the United States is shipping them abroad for the use of armies there.

In many ways, army officers believe, the present war will have little effect on the development of American military transportation equipment. The armies of Germany, France, and to some extent England are equipped to fight in the highly developed territory which is the present theater of war. Transfer them to the interior of the United States and the greater part of their motor equipment and much of their heavy artillery would be found almost useless, it is said. They would have to be re-equipped with horse and mule transportation. The difficulties encountered by German troops who crossed the Russian border, officers say, were those of transportation. Poor roads made it impossible for them to move guns and supplies as their tactical training directed. Several big guns were lost without having fired a shot, it is reported, because they could not be withdrawn swiftly.

The United States army employs motorcycles to some extent for orderlies carrying messages. Even this is limited by road conditions, however, and while suggestions for a motorcycle corps have been made, serious attention has not been given to the subject as yet. A cavalry horse still answers the purposes of the army better than any other means of communication by orderly.

D. J. CRIMMINS TO BE RETIRED

Has Worked Throttle of Pennsylvania Yard Engine Over 30 Years.

Among the Pennsylvania employes who will be retired to the pension system January 1 is Dennis J. Crimmins, of 225 East Butler street, one of the best known yard engineers in the city. Mr. Crimmins is now practically retired, being unable to work on account of sickness. He entered the employ of the company as a fireman April 7, 1883, and February 5, 1899, he was promoted to yard engineer, which position he has held ever since, working nearly every day of the year, including Sundays, until recently, when he was taken sick.

RECEPTION POSTPONED.

The reception in honor of H. A. Philley and A. J. Cash at Unity hall arranged for next Monday evening has been postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. Cash, which prevents her husband from coming here on that date. Mr. Cash is the recently appointed general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., an office that Mr. Philley has filled for three or four months. Mrs. Cash was recently operated upon for appendicitis and is recovering, but unable to leave her home in Logansport, hence the postponement of the reception.

SHIPPING GAS HOLDER MATERIAL.

The Western Gas Construction company is just completing a million dollar gas holder plant at St. Louis and today sent the last car load of the material to be used in its construction. The company also forwarded to Springfield, Mass., yesterday a car load of valves and fittings for a big repair job.

KILLED HORSE; DRIVER ESCAPES.

With the top of their buggy up and the curtains tightly closed, Fred Vonbion and W. Bugley drove on the Pennsylvania crossing on one of the streets of Warsaw last night and the rig was struck by westbound Pennsylvania train No. 11. The horse was instantly killed and the buggy demolished, but the occupants escaped with slight injuries.

WATER SCARCE IN OHIO.

A soft water famine prevails along the Nickel Plate road between this city and Bellevue and the company is compelled to use deep well water for steam for its locomotives. This water is very unsatisfactory as it makes considerable lime and shortens the service period of the engines. A good, heavy rain would relieve the situation.

TRAVEL GOOD YESTERDAY.

All the local ticket agents report a good sale of tickets yesterday, particularly to local points. The business was not quite as heavy as it was a year ago, but better than expected, because of the general dull times in all trades and lines of business.

DECLINES CALL TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Prof. Louis Dorn Decided to Remain a Member of College Faculty.

Prof. Louis Dorn, a member of the faculty of Concordia college, and a member of the city park board, decided to decline the call to the Indianapolis congregation which he received from the St. Paul's church Monday of this week. The decision was reached Wednesday afternoon when he met in conference with the other teachers of the school.

After discussing it thoroughly the fact was brought out that he was of more use to the church in his present position than any other place. Prof. Dorn sent a telegram announcing his decision, and also stated that he hoped that they would soon be successful in securing a pastor.

MORE FARMS ARE IN QUARANTINE

Forty-Four Head of Cattle on Nail Farm Will Be Killed.

Several more farms near the John Nail farm close to Maples were placed under quarantine Thursday by county officials in an effort to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease in Allen county.

Strict measures have been adopted by Dr. W. F. Myers, county veterinarian, and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux, because it is realized that unless immediate action is taken the disease will get a foothold on this county that will be hard to overcome. Seven schools, six public and the St. John Lutheran, have been closed by county officials and will not be permitted to open again until all danger is passed.

Dr. H. H. Cohenour, government veterinarian, who arrived here late Wednesday afternoon from Niles, Mich., inspected the forty-four head of cattle and confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. Myers.

All roads near the Nail farm have been fenced and positively no travel in that vicinity is permitted.

Quarantine Lifted.

Announcement has been made that the quarantine on all roads south of the Yellow river road near the Whitley county line would be lifted Thursday.

Work was started Thursday on the trench in which the Nail cattle will be buried. The appraising of the cattle will probably be done Thursday afternoon.

BIG SALE FRIDAY BY THE SHERIFF

Pursuant to an order from the circuit court of Wells county, where the suit was tried on change of venue, Sheriff A. C. Gladieux will on Friday afternoon at the court house offer for sale real estate of the value of $100,000 or more belonging to the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company, of this city. This property is a part of the assets of the concern, which went into the hands of a receiver two years ago.

Mrs. Nowek was born in Prussia but had lived in Fort Wayne since 1882, and was a devoted member of the St. John Reformed church. Surviving relatives include the following children: Mrs. H. O. Hilker, Mrs. Frank Weigand and Miss Edith Nowek, all of this city, and Mrs. William Broeking, of Peru. Three grandchildren also survive.

BIG PROFIT IN THE WATERWAYS

Secretary of National Rivers Congress is Armed With Facts.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—"The direct saving on goods actually carried by water in the United States is more than 550 million dollars a year."

"Cheap transportation benefits both the producer and the consumer, for instance, making wheat and cotton higher and flour and cloth lower at one and the same time."

"Frankfort, Germany, grew more in twenty years after the River Main was canalized than it had grown in fifteen hundred years before."

Facts such as these are a part of the ammunition used in his campaign for river and harbor improvement by Sydney J. Roy, field secretary of the national rivers and harbors congress.

For a National System.

The congress, which is to hold its annual session in Washington next month, was organized to build sentiment in favor of a national system of waterways and harbors. It advocates the provision of adequately equipped terminals, either publicly owner or so controlled that they shall be open to all users on equal and reasonable terms; and the enactment and enforcement of all legislation needed to secure constructive co-operation instead of destructive competition between railways and waterways.

When Mr. Roy comes to Kansas City he feels he is "at home" because of the interest Kansas City men have taken in the Missouri river improvement.

The Reason for It.

"The national rivers and harbors congress advocates a policy that will secure the systematic, comprehensive and speedy improvement of all the waterways and harbors of the United States to such an extent as shall be found commercially profitable," said Mr. Roy yesterday. "Note that phrase, 'commercially profitable.'

"The fundamental reason why the government should deepen the country's waterways is to build commercial and industrial centers in the interior of the country and thereby bring about a more equal distribution of wealth and population, for it is true that throughout the civilized world the largest cities, the densest population, the busiest and most prosperous people are to be found along navigable waterways. There is a reason why the improvement of the Missouri means so much to Kansas City.

Minneapolis Sees the Light.

"And Minneapolis is doing just what Kansas City has done. To hold the transportation that belongs to Minneapolis and St. Paul a barge line is to be built from Minneapolis to New Orleans. Duluth, 140 miles north, has an all-water route to the sea, and Minneapolis knows that she must have an all-water route also to hold her own in transportation. Part of the river improvement at Minneapolis is a $100,000 terminal."

HAS NEW FAD; WEARS FLUFFY MUFF ON HER SLEEVES

Here's the "girl with the muff," but she really has no muff at all. It's just one of the new "made in America" fashions which has tagged make-believe muff on the sleeves of some of the new evening coats. The cuffs are comfortable places for a pair of chilly hands, and they are not nearly so inconvenient as a muff.

This fur-trimmed "made in America" cloak is white velour; the fur trimming is black fox.

WE'VE got a lot of customers who call us first when they have a printing order to place. That's because they know we try to give them something more than printing. "Let's forget the price for a minute," we say, "and figure out what the printing is for and how we can make it profitable." Prices are always competitive, but good service creates a monopoly. We want to be not low man on price but high man on profit to the buyer.

GRAIN RATES TO ADVANCE DEC. 15

Increase Will Be One Cent Per Hundred Pounds in the West.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The railroads have notified the interstate commerce commission that they propose to advance grain rates from the west one cent a hundred pounds on December 15. This action, it is announced, is in line with the policy of the transportation lines to take advantage of the order of the interstate commerce commission in the 5 per cent. rate advance case issued last July to advance the rates on what is said to be unremunerative traffic.

The existing rate on grain from Chicago to New York is sixteen cents domestic and thirteen cents export. The new rates proposed to become effective on December 15 are from Chicago to New York, seventeen cents domestic and fourteen cents export. Already the roads have taken advantage of the advance of 5 per cent. granted them in Central Freight Association territory, but the advance on the unremunerative rates is entirely in addition to this.

Whole Territory Covered.

Central Freight Association territory includes the southern part of Illinois and Michigan, and the states of Indiana and Ohio, and the extreme western part of Pennsylvania and New York. The advance in the official classification territory covers the whole of that territory between the Mississippi and the Hudson rivers. In this general territory the advances are understood to be planned on those rates which the commission pointed out in its decision were unremunerative.

The decision of last July was in effect that the roads may advance the rates in Central Freight Association territory, and suggested that they eliminate terminal allowances, advance passenger rates and increase the so-called unremunerative rates. Plans already have been made for advancing the passenger rates, and now it is found that the unremunerative rates are to be advanced.

Advances on Live Stock.

The advance of five cents a hundred pounds on live stock and fresh meats, proposed to become effective December 15, and the advance in the grain products rates are in line with this suggestion. It is expected that the railroads will take full advantage of the suggestion of the commission and advance the remaining unremunerative rates. Included among these are understood to be the rates on corn, oats, wheat, flour, live stock, beets, copper, corn sirup, pig lead, paper, cotton, wood pulp and similar rates.

Live stock people continue to complain to the commission of some of the proposed advances and requested that they be suspended pending an investigation. It is expected that the commission will give consideration to this request at its monthly conference to be held within about two weeks. Inasmuch, however, as the commission already has suggested that the roads should advance the unremunerative rates there is a question whether the commission will consent to suspend the proposed rates.

It is noted that the commission did not point out exactly what should be held to be unremunerative rates, and therefore a discussion is likely to arise as to which of the advances now being filed by the eastern roads should be suspended.

It has been suggested in England that chewing-gum, which allays thirst and wards off the pangs of hunger, it a suitable present for the troops.

MAYOR'S COMMUNICATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 19, 1914.

Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I have approved the following ordinance, and resolutions passed at your regular session of November 10th, 1914:

General ordinance No. 670, an ordinance concerning the removal of the habitation of families and other persons in the city of Fort Wayne, and providing penalties for the violation of said ordinance.

Resolution No. 113, a resolution appointing Mayor William J. Hosey and President of the Council Wm. A. Bayer, delegates to the annual rivers and harbors congress at Washington, D. C., December 9th, 1914.

CONTROLLER'S COMMUNICATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 24, 1914.

To the Honorable Common Council, City.

Gentlemen:—The common council having decided to send two representatives from Fort Wayne, Ind., the honorable mayor, Wm. J. Hosey, and the president of the council, Wm. A. Bayer, to the rivers and harbors congress, to be held in Washington, D. C., in December, 1914, I would respectfully recommend that one hundred fifty dollars ($150.00) be appropriated to pay the expenses of the two gentlemen.

Respectfully,
W. C. BAADE,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 24, 1914.

To the Common Council.

Gentlemen:—Your committee of the whole to whom was referred the petition of the citizens conventional hall committee for the construction of an auditorium in the city of Fort Wayne, respectfully report that it has carefully considered the contents of said petition. It finds that the right of the city at this time to submit to the citizens the question of the construction of an auditorium is doubtful under the law as it now exists and it also finds that there is a law for the construction of a county auditorium, but your committee finds that there is some opposition on the part of some citizens to the construction of a county auditorium, such citizens believing that such a convention hall or auditorium should be owned by the city itself.

Your committe further reports that it is in favor of allowing the citizens of Fort Wayne to vote upon the question as to whether or not there shall be a municipal auditorium or convention hall, but your committee believes that before such question is submitted to the city of Fort Wayne, there should be a law which will allow the citizens to vote intelligently upon the subject.

Your committee therefore recommends the enactment of a convention hall [illegible] to be appointed by the [illegible] question of the construction of an auditorium or convention hall and that said committee submit the draft of such act to this council for approval before its presentation to the legislature for enactment.

That the present market has been used as such for the purpose of accommodating the farmers and the sale, especially of farm products, as a public market, almost ever since the city of Fort Wayne has been incorporated; that the present market upon and along Barr street is especially adapted for the purposes, for the reason that it is of easy access from all parts of the city and surrounding country and is peculiarly centrally located; has been improved for said purpose by the city, at a large expense to the tax payers; that the businesses established upon and along said street, have all been so established and arranged as to accommodate the existence and the continuation of the market in and upon Barr street, from Washington street to the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad; that the moving and changing of the market and the selecting of some other place not centrally located, would not only be a great inconvenience to the citizens, but would cause the undersigned great financial loss and damage;

Therefore, we and each of us respectfully petition this honorable body, that said market not only remain upon and along the street heretofore mentioned, but that the same be firmly and permanently established thereon.

Wayne has been incorporated and known as a city; that it is centrally located, easy of access from all parts of the city and country and is the most ideal place in all particulars for the purpose aforesaid than any other spot or place that could be selected in or about the city; that the property holders and business men along said street adjacent to said market, by reason of the accommodations and long continued use of said market as such, have improved their various properties and so arranged their business as to accommodate all persons desirous of either selling upon the market or purchasing thereon, and in so doing have spent large sums of money, and it would be unjust to them, especially at this time, outside of all the inconvenience that may be occasioned to the citizens of the city desiring to use the same, to move the market to some other point or place in or about said city.

Therefore, we respectfully petition this honorable body and request that the market aforesaid be retained and maintained upon and along Barr street, in the same manner as herebefore.

ITCHING IRRITATION.

Worst Form of Skin Trouble Quickly Relieved by Inexpensive Treatment.

When you suffer with any skin trouble, even though the itching seems unbearable, do not think that it is necessary to use some disgusting, greasy ointment. Try Hokara, a pure and simple cream, that is guaranteed to contain no grease or acids and which is so cleanly that it does not soil the linen.

Its power to instantly relieve any irritation of the skin and make it soft, white and beautiful is almost miraculous.

Not only do minor skin troubles like pimples, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., quickly disappear, but the worst ulcers or cases of salt rheum or eczema are cleansed and healed by this wonderful skin food.

In order that any one may try Hokara at small expense, Meyer Bros. Co.'s drug store are selling a liberal-sized jar at 25c, and in addition guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not do all that is claimed for it.—Adv.

SAY GERMAN ROUT IN POLAND IS COMPLETE

London, Nov. 26.—(12:35 p. m.)—The official news received in Russian circles in London today declares that the rout of the German and Austrian forces in Poland has been complete.

The general staff, however, is not yet able to give any details of this fighting.

Russian Victory Decisive.

"It is now clear that the Russian victory in Poland is decisive," says the Petrograd correspondent of the Express. "The number of prisoners taken by the Russians is estimated at 50,000.

"The Germans have begun a retreat along the entire front," the correspondent continues, "and in many places the flight is a disordered rout, marked by the abandonment of artillery, Maxims and transports.

"Berlin meanwhile is beginning to talk about repulsing Russian attacks which is a subtle method of announcing that the German troops are on the defensive."

Says Dixmude is Retaken.

The correspondent of the Daily mail at Dunkirk, France, telegraphs that Dixmude has been re-taken by the allies. He says:

"The French marines attacked the town strongly on Tuesday night and drove the Germans out of three lines of advanced trenches. On Wednesday they followed this up by entering the town in an irresistable charge.

"The enemy did not halt in their retreat until they were seven miles out of the town. The marines lost 300 men."

Russians to Aid Servians.

The correspondent of the Times, at Sofia, Bulgaria, reports that Russian troops have arrived in Servia to assist the Servians in fighting the Austrians.

"Fifteen regiments of Russian troops with seventy barge loads of ammunition and supplies have arrived at the Servian town of Raduievatz," the correspondent says. "They made the 500 mile trip up the Danube from Russian territory. They will be rushed to the front to assist the Servians."

RAIL RULING ON NEW WAR TAX LAW

Bureau of Internal Revenue Gives Interpretation for Roads.

Washington, Nov. 26.—A ruling of interest to all railroads was issued today by the bureau of internal revenue, interpreting the provision of the war tax law relating to the levy of one cent on all manifests, bills of lading or other evidences of the receipt and forwarding of shipments. The law requires such evidence of receipt on all shipments where the charge is over five cents, but the bureau announces that "a liberal compliance with this requirement is in some cases impracticable or impossible."

"It is, therefore, hereby provided," says the ruling, "that where freight is not charged at agency stations it must be receipted for by conductors accepting it. He must see to it that an internal revenue stamp of one cent denomination is attached to each of such receipts and cancelled as required by these regulations before such shipments are accepted."

The ruling provides, however, that in case of shipments of perishable nature or in other cases where such receipts cannot be given by conductors that shipments may be accepted and transported in advance of the affixing of the stamp. The receipt in such cases is to be delivered to the "destination agent," the stampp required of the consignee. Baggage checks for the transportation of bicycles, dogs, baby carriages, etc., will be regarded as evidences of receipt and should be stamped.

WILSON HOLIDAY OLD-FASHIONED

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 26.—President Wilson spent an old-fashioned New England Thanksgiving day with his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, here today. His program included church in the forenoon, an automobile ride in the afternoon and a Thanksgiving dinner at the Sayre home in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, Prof. Stockton Axson, brother of the late Mrs. Wilson, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Mr. Wilson's naval aide and physician, were the president's only companions during the day. He came to the Berkshire hills for rest and seclusion and found it.

St. John's Episcopal church, where the president attended a union Thanksgiving service, was filled to capacity with people from miles around who came to Williamstown for a sight of the nation's chief executive. The rector, Rev. J. Foster, was the preacher.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HERRICK.

Clermont-Oreans, Department of Sarthe, France, Nov. 26.—Baron D'Estournelles and a large number of his colleagues in the senate, have joined in sending a telegram to Myron T. Herrick, the retiring American ambassador, in which they express their regret at the departure of the American diplomat. "We express our profound recognition," the dispatch says, "of all the good you have done since your arrival in Paris, particularly your generous, unremitting and efficient devotion during this detestable war against France and civilization. Our fraternal wishes follow you to the United States. We hope that you, Mrs. Herrick and your children will return some day to our fireside, where we will faithfully keep a place for you."

FEDERAL COURT HIS ONLY HOPE

Ohio Tax Board Dismisses Rockefeller's Plea for Relief.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—John D. Rockefeller's only hope of relief from Cuyahoga county tax assessment of $1,200,000 upon involuntary personal tax returns of $311,053,337 now lies in the federal courts. The board of tax complaints yesterday dismissed Rockefeller's complaint asking an abatement on $11,000,000 worth of stocks and bonds, and upheld the action of County Tax Commissioners Fackler and Agnew in placing them upon the duplicate.

Attorneys for Rockefeller intimated today that a federal injunction restraining collection of the tax assessment may be sought. T. A. Cleavenger, one of the attorneys, said, however, that it has not been decided whether Rockefeller's counsel will make the first move in the court of the fight which will follow.

The board reduced the valuation of Rockefeller's picture, "Disputed Boundary," to $5,000. It was valued by the tax officials at $75,000. The board also abated the assessment of $100,000 worth of "credits," but refused to abate the $8,000 valuation on two automobiles.

RIDER KILLED IN MOTORCYCLE RACE

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 26.—Gray Sloop, of Mooresville, N. C., one of the competitors in the road race here today, was killed when his motorcycle crashed into a tree. Sloop's neck and back were broken.

Thirty-three riders, including some of the best known motorcyclists in the country started here in the second annual 300 miles prize road race, under the auspices of the Savannah Motorcycle club. The course was that over which the Vanderbilt automobile cup races formerly were run.

SWEDISH PRESS IS STIRRED.

Resents German Declaration That Wood is War Contraband.

Stockholm, Nov. 26.—The German declaration that wood is contraband of war has brought out considerable comment in the Swedish press.

Five Swedish steamers laden with wood, it is recited, have recently been stopped in the south Baltic by German cruisers and made to return to Swedish ports. The suggestion is now made in the press that Swedish cruisers convoy Swedish commercial vessels past the German warships.

MORE REFUGEES ARRIVE.

A number of the Van Dycks passengers recently arrived here on the steamer Sao Paulo. Many are bound for this port on the steamship Stephen, of the Booth line.

AWAKENS IN BED OF FIRE

Charles H. Claymiller is Seriously Burned as He Sleeps.

FIRE DUE TO AN ELECTRIC LIGHT

Man's Lower Extremities Suffered Severely in Experience.

Awakening Thursday morning about 3 o'clock to find his bed in flames, his nightshirt consumed up to his shoulders and his lower extremities severely burned, Charles H. Claymiller, 22 years old, son of Rudolph Claymiller, 222 Melita street, has much to be thankful for that he is alive. He will survive.

Claymiller was peacefully sleeping when he was suddenly awakened. He discovered that he was in a bed of fire, the flames leaping high into the room. Suffering intensely from the burns he had received before awakening he jumped out of bed and rushed downstairs to a bowl of water, which he attempted to throw on himself, but without success, his right hand being badly burned and he was not able to do much with his left hand.

OFFICIALS AT PAN-AMERICAN SERVICE

Washington, Nov. 26.—Members of the cabinet, diplomatic corps, the supreme court and other prominent figures in official life gathered today at St. Patrick's church for the annual pan-American Thanksgiving celebration.

President Wilson was in Williamstown, Mass., spending the day with his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Sayre, and it was the first time since the pan-American celebration was organized several years ago that the president has not attended.

The diplomatic representatives in brilliant uniforms assembled with other dignitaries and marched into the church in a solemn but colorful procession, where mass was said in celebration of peace and thanksgiving among the Americans.

NOW TO BESIEGE ZAPATA AND VILLA

Carranza's Crowd at Vera Cruz Are Outlining Next Move.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 26.—The occupation of Mexico City by the forces of Gen. Zapata and the apparent understanding that has been reached between this southern leader and General Villa, appear to be pleasing rather than otherwise to Gen. Carranza's supporters here who, it is supposed, re-entered Carranza opposition in this respect.

In general the plan now will be to besiege Zapata and Villa, cutting every railroad and starving them into surrender, if possible, but forcing their capitulation at that point in any way which may become necessary. Sidro Fabla, Carranza's minister of foreign affairs, who has located his office here, expressed the conviction last night that the task of subduing Zapata and Villa would not be nearly so difficult as appeared.

He admitted that the consequences for Mexico City would be bad. He also admitted that already there had been received news that followers of Zapata had sacked certain parts of the capital, although there were no reports to indicate the extent to which this had been carried out, but he regarded this as one of the necessary consequences incident to warfare. Just who is in control of Mexico City is not known here by the Carranza officials, according to Senor Fabla. It is reported that neither Gen. Zapata nor Gen. Villa actually is in the city, but that they have sent forward one on whom they agreed as their representative.

Rescuers immediately went to work and saved two children. The number of persons still in the ruins is not definitely known but neighbors say that at least six are buried there.

FORT WAYNE GIVES THANKS

Business is Practically Suspended in the Entire City.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

King Turkey Reigns Supreme in a Majority of the Homes.

In accordance with the proclamations of President Woodrow Wilson and Governor Samuel M. Ralston residents of Fort Wayne are observing Thanksgiving day.

Business has practically been suspended and the day is being spent in various fashion, principally, however, in the giving of thanks. Special Thanksgiving services were held in many of the churches, the pastors preaching appropriate sermons and the choirs rendering music in keeping with the day.

The various benevolent organizations have been exceedingly active in providing turkeys and eatables to those less fortunate. An effort has been made to make glad and fill with thanksgiving the hearts of those to whom Thanksgiving day would mean very little if it were not for these societies and those charitably inclined. Trustee Henry E. Branning also has been very busy and on Wednesday furnished an unusually large number of grocery orders.

King turkey reigns supreme and as he is not subject to the hoof and mouth disease, he was really in greater demand this year, if that is possible, than ever before. Thousands of turkeys were disposed of in Fort Wayne by local dealers and farmers, many of whom sold direct to the consumer. The demand was almost greater than the supply, for thousands have been shipped to the eastern market during the last few days, there being no embargo, as is the case on live stock.

Stores Are Closed.

Nearly every store in the city is closed for the entire day. None of the banking institutions are open and both county and city officials are taking a vacation, except the police and firemen, who are always on the job. All barber shops also are closed.

The regular morning delivery of the mail was made by the city carriers. There was no delivery by rural route carirers, however. The money order, registry, stamp and general delivery

GEN. FUNSTON'S MEN AT GALVESTON TODAY

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 26.—Wireless messages from Major General Frederick G. Funston on board the transport Christobel indicates that the first ship of the five bearing the Fifth brigade back to American soil from Vera Cruz, Mexico, will arrive in Galveston shortly after noon today. All are expected to dock by nightfall.

A downpour during the last two days has prevented completion of the camp at Fort Crocket, and the quartermaster's department announced the troops probably will not disembark until Friday or Saturday.

The total number of persons leaving Vera Cruz upon its evacuation is 4,421, as indicated by reports from Gen. Funston received here. The transports Christobel and McClellan and the chartered Ward liner Antilla, having on board more than 300 refugees, are making faster time than the remaining transports and are expected to arrive several hours earlier.

Thanksgiving dinner will be enjoyed by the troops on shipboard.

Immigration officials from Houston and Texas City are here to assist the legal authorities in handling the ship load of refugees.

EDITOR BEFORE JUDGE ANDERSON

Terre Haute Man Secures Habeas Corpus Writ in Federal Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 26.—Dennis Shea, sheriff of Vigo county was to appear before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States district court here at 3 o'clock this afternoon with Charles Clogston, editor of a Terre Haute newspaper, who was sentenced to jail for alleged contempt of court, in answer to a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Anderson last night.

The writ was issued at the request of James A. Cooper and Everett Sanders, Clogston's attorneys, and was based on the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution, which declares "nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law." The petition for the writ contends that Clogston was deprived of his liberty without due process of law.

Clogston was ordered to pay a fine and sentenced to jail by Judge Eli H. Redmon because of an article appearing in Clogston's newspaper regarding the selection of a grand jury to investigate alleged election frauds and which the court held reflected on the integrity of the court.

Merrill Wilson, chief United States deputy marshall, went to Terre Haute last night to serve the order on Sheriff Shea.

FACE CHARGE OF MURDER ATTEMPT

Indianapolis Woman and a Male Companion Taken Into Custody.

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Christina Curtis, 30 years old, 244 East New York street, and Ray Davis, 23 years old, a porter in the California House saloon, were arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, and both are held under bonds of $1,000. George Curtis, the husband of the woman under arrest, reported to the police last Sunday night that his wife, from whom he was separated, went to his room at 1604 South Meridian street, accompanied by a strange man, and attacked him as he lay in bed. He was stabbed three times in the chest by Mrs. Curtis while the stranger held him, Curtis told the police.

Mrs. Curtis admitted yesterday, the detectives say, that she instructed Davis to cut the telephone wires leading to her husband's room. Davis said Mrs. Curtis told him a man inside the house might cause trouble and asked him to cut the wires. He did not know she was married, he said, and accompanied her to the South Meridian street address when she told him she wanted to get her clothing out of a room in which she formerly had lived. Davis said he met Mrs. Curtis at the California House a few hours before he accompanied her to 1604 South Meridian street.

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

TWO GIRLS HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Both Lelita and Dolores Boggs, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Boggs, 129 East Washington street, are in a serious condition as the result of being struck by an automobile owned and driven by J. G. Berry of Kenton, Ohio, on Clinton street, near Washington, about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Lelita's condition is much worse than her sister, although in the opinion of Dr. I. W. Ditton, she will recover. Lelita is three years old and Dolores five.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs and children were on their way to a local theater and were crossing Clinton street when the accident occurred. Eye witnesses say that the little girls ran directly in front of the machine, the driver having no opportunity to stop.

The car ran over both the children. The smallest child is believed to have been injured internally, while the older child suffered a fracture of one rib and minor bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs had come to Fort Wayne to spend Thanksgiving day with Chester Chapman, 1029 Glasgow avenue.

SCHOONER IS FREED.

Chatham, Mass., Nov. 26.—The revenue cutter Acushnet at high tide today pulled the British three-masted schooner Saint Maurice off the flats at South Chatham, where she grounded yesterday during a blow. It was expected that she would resume her journey from Nova Scotia to New York today.

COURT HOUSE IS CLOSED FOR DAY

Officials and Their Staffs Devote Day to Turkey and Thanksgiving.

The Allen county court house was closed throughout the day and all the officials and their clerical staffs devoted the time to enjoyment of the holiday. There was nothing doing in any department of the building.

NEWS OF THE COURTS.

It is related to the superior court by Emma B. Dyer in her divorce complaint against Frederick E. Dyer that on Wednesday, November 25, 1914, she was violently attacked by her husband, who struck her with his fist, knocked her down and threatened to dash her brains out then and there. Notwithstanding it was the day before Thanksgiving, Mrs. Dyer resolved to stand not another minute for Frederick's rough stuff and went right down to a lawyer and had a complaint drawn and the document filed. The two were married in August, 1908, and the plaintiff says that her spouse for a long time has indulged himself in an excessive use of strong drink, and that during the past two years he has, drunk or sober, treated her with great cruelty and inhumanity, has threatened to do her bodily injury and even threatened her life. She declares she is in fear of him and asks the court to restrain him from visiting her at her home, 721 Prospect street. Mrs. Dyer also asks $1,000. The defendant is in business as a furrier, 111 Washington boulevard west.

Says Wife Abandoned Him.

John Rost charges that in October, 1913, Grace Rost, whom he made his wife in July, 1911, packed up and wholly without fault or blame on his part abandoned and deserted him. They had no children and he does not want to be encumbered with so useless a burden as a wife who will have nothing to do with him. The superior court is asked, therefore, to grant him a divorce.

Al Gaines Gets Sixty Days.

Albert Gaines, who laid an ax upon George Hughes' skull with such effect as to fracture it and almost send Hughes on a one-way trip to the shining shore, was found guilty in the circuit court of assault and battery and given sixty days in jail. The jury retired late in the afternoon and did not report until 8 o'clock. The men involved in the fight are colored. Hughes' white wife, whose leaving him for refuge in the Gaines home led to the fight, sat beside Hughes in court. Hughes is Gaines' stepson.

Notes of the Courts.

Action has been brought in the circuit court by Philip Mehl against Frank Miller to recover $100 for work and labor performed.

The superior court has set down for trial on January 21 the suit of Jesse O. Smith vs. E. C. Rurode, et al., and on January 29 the suit of Dallas Butler vs. the Indiana Refining company.

J. Milton Rosenthal has filed suit in the superior court against Louise Wiecke for $300 on account.

JUDGE YAPLE OUT OF CITY.

Hon. Carl Yaple, judge of the superior court, has designated Benjamin F. Heaton to act as judge pro tempore in that court during the absence of Judge Yaple from the city in Mendon, Mich., whither he was called by the illness of relatives.

PLEAD GUILTY; ARE BOUND OVER

Three Young Shoplifters Will Be Disposed of in Circuit Court.

Mrs. Velma Myers and her sisters-in-law, Misses Millicent and Naomi Myers, the three young shoplifters arrested Wednesday by Detective Sergeant William F. Pappert and Officer Charles Eisenhut, through their attorney, William N. Ballou, entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny, in the city court, Thursday morning, and after a very brief hearing were bound over to the circuit court, the bond of each being fixed at $300. It is believed that some effort will be made to place the Myers girls under the restraint of a proper environment and give them a chance to turn their steps into better paths. From early childhood they have been without a father and their mother has been for years a helpless paralytic. Naomi, who is not yet 19 years old, has been out of the Allen county orphans' home less than three years. Her sister, Millicent, aged 20, has been making her own way, according to her statement to the court, for some five or six years. She also spent several years in the Allen county orphanage. Millicent is in a most unfortunate situation and now has pending in Justice Yancey's court a paternity suit against Harry Shrimp, a Pennsylvania shop employe. Several dry goods merchants were at police headquarters Thursday to look over the mass of plunder recovered from the rooms of the girls at 1628½ Calhoun street to try to identify property that may have been stolen from them.

Leininger is Bound Over.

John Leininger, who on Monday took his second wife and on Tuesday was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his divorced wife, was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of neglecting his children. His bond was fixed at $1,000 and he went back to jail. Judge Kerr told Leininger that his was in its circumstances the most flagrant case of child neglecting that had come before him in the city court. Leininger wanted to make a statement, but Judge Kerr told him to save it for Judge Eggeman, before whom he would probably stand in need of everything he could possibly say in mitigation. After being returned to his cell Leininger was visited by his two sons—young men able to take care of themselves. They evidently had called to say some words of sympathy and comfort to their parent, but Leininger tore into them with furious wrath and the boys were told by Stationmaster Degitz to leave.

Young Thief Promptly Captured.

Albert Bashara, a Syrian youth, aged 17, paroled from the reformatory for boys at Plainfield two years ago, was charged with petit larceny and a continuance entered until Friday. Wednesday afternoon Bashara went into the John Fredericks meat market, 1922 Wells street. While the salesroom was temporarily deserted Bashara sneaked in, nicked the cash register for $25.40 and fled. The police were notified and almost simultaneously from different points Detectives Joseph Brennan and Charles Spiltner commandeered automobiles and hurried to the north side. They picked up young Bashara and after sweating him at headquarters got his confession and he took the officers to a place in the rear of his brother's dry-cleaning establishment, on Cass street, where he had secreted the money beneath a stark of iron pipe.

Other City Court Cases.

Frank Smith got $1 and costs and Charles Kress $5 and costs on loitering charges. They had been begging on the street and were picked up by Officer Paul. Both are Fort Wayne men. Mike Ryan, Pat Keefe, Rudy Gerberding, John Slattery, George Lambright, Jim Dunn wandered into police station at various hours Wednesday night to ask for lodging and each of the sextet toted in a specimen of the barkeep's fine handiwork. The bum room was well filled with wayfarers who wanted to keep warm and sleep and the six souses were locked up. All pleaded guilty. Slattery and Keefe were continued until Friday and the others were turned loose. Mike O'Neal and Tom Burns, who were too drunk to be tried Wednesday, were allowed to go.

Walter Wheeler pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $1 and costs. He was one of the party that took the big Cadillac touring car of Frank Moreles out on a joy ride the night of September 26 and wrecked the machine at Maumee avenue and Harmer street. Wheeler was badly injured and has not been long out of the hospital.

Walter Coe, charged with wife desertion, was continued until December 26 and released on his own recognizance.

GILMARTIN CAR IS FOUND.

The Cadillac touring car belonging to Michael Gilmartin, stolen from the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets at some time between 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night and 1 o'clock Thursday morning, was found at 3 o'clock Thursday morning by Night Officer Dan Klintz. It had been abandoned at Butler street and Fairfield avenue. The car had been slightly damaged. Three young men who were loafing about midnight at the corner from which the car was taken are suspected of having stolen it for a joyride. Mr. Gilmartin was attending a meeting in Knights of Columbus hall when the car was taken.

MAY APPEAL FOR UNCLE SAM'S AID

Spread of Forest Fires in Southwest Grows More Menacing.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 26.—Federal aid may be asked to check the spreading forest fires that today were sweeping with renewed violence through the whole southeast portion of Arkansas and northern Louisiana. E. V. Visart, federal game warden, who returned from a visit to the fire swept area, said he believed it would be necessary for the government to assist before the fire could be conquered. Today was the eighth on which the sun has been obscured entirely in Little Rock by dense clouds of smoke.

The most serious individual losses yet reported occurred at Helena last night when sparks set fire to the Central Distilling company and the Lining Furniture company plants. Both were destroyed with a loss of $150,000.

In northern Louisiana concern is felt for the safety of many big oil plants in the Caddo parish, the largest oil field in the state. Fires are spreading rapidly in the district.

Mississippi river traffic south of Memphis is said to be almost at a standstill because of the difficulty in operating steamers through the dense smoke. According to weather forecasters no rain is in sight.

Fifteen-Year-Old Girl Will Return to School and Lover Will Work.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 26.—Helen J. Knorr, the fifteen-year-old high school girl, who eloped with Thomas J. Prows, age twenty-one, to Covington, Ky., to get married, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Knorr. Miss Knorr said that she and Frows went to the home of his sister, in Covington, and when they told her their mission, the sister objected on account of their youth, and after considerable persuasion, they decided to take her advice to remain single for a few years. Miss Knorr will continue her studies with the junior class of the Lawrenceburg high school and finish the course, while Prows will continue his work and save his earnings until she is graduated. Then they said they will marry.

Cuban Outfielder Regrets His Jump to the Outlaws.

New York, Nov. 26.—Armando Marsans, the Cuban outfielder who jumped from the Cincinnati Nationals to the Federal league, has informed his friends in New York, according to reports published here today, that he desires to return to organized baseball and would like a berth with the New York Nationals. Marsans is said to be playing ball just now in Havana, stationed at first base under an assumed name. It is not generally believed here that Manager McGraw of the Giants will undertake to have the Cuban's name stricken from organized baseball's blacklist.

GERMANS LED INTO TRAP.

Petrograd, Nov. 26.—Semi-official advices received from Poland show that the German defeat at Lodz, culminating in the capture of a German army corps, was the result of a Russian maneuver by which the Germans were led into an inextricable trap.

The Russians' left wing, resting on the river Warta, and the Russian right wing on the Vistula, both lying along the Warsaw-Kalisz railroad, moved forward in unison in the last two days. Simultaneous the Russian center gave ground and the Germans followed, apparently relying upon a German column from Wielun to repulse the Russian left wing and to form a juncture with the main German forces.

NEW CASES OF CATTLE PLAGUE.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Five cases of foot and mouth disease in cattle and hogs have been discovered near Waterford, Va., in Loudoun county. Officials of the department of agriculture, working with Virginia authorities, may quarantine the county but do not believe it will be necessary to quarantine the state. The infected cattle came from Hagerstown, Md.

CAPTURE A MEINENWURFER.

Indian Troops Take Novel Gun from German Forces.

Washington, Nov. 26.—French foreign office dispatches saying the Indian troops had captured a "minenwurfer" from the Germans has reached the embassy here today. "The Minenwurfer," which despite its ability to destroy the French trenches, found itself worthless against bayonets according to the cablegram. Its German name apparently baffled the dispatch writer in finding a French equivalent.

The Minenwurfer or trench destroyer is a short range gun which drops explosives upon the earthworks and explodes them without scattering metal.

WILL REDUCE BORDER GUARD.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux on Friday morning will remove some of the special deputies who have been maintaining the armed guard on the Allen-Whitley border because of the presence of the hoof and mouth disease in Whitley county. All the guards will be dispensed with save those who are patrolling the line between Lake township, Allen county, and Union township, Whitley county.

PUPILS SING HYMNS AT SIGHT.

Washington, Nov. 26.—That 75 per cent. of the pupils in the grammar grades in 119 public schools out of 433 can sing an ordinary hymn at sight is disclosed in a report today by the federal bureau of education on its investigations of music teaching in American schools. The inquiry develops the fact that about 90 per cent. of the schools require music.

FOREST FIRES IN INDIANA RAGING

Hazelton, Ind., Nov. 26.—Forest fires started in three counties near here yesterday and still are fiercely raging. The loss of standing timber will be heavy, but will probably be eclipsed by damage to farm property and ungathered corn.

On the southern edge of Pike county yesterday afternoon a building on the Perry Hoover farm was destroyed by fire which swept through woods and across cornfields. The Hoover residence was saved by plowing furrows across the face of the blaze.

On the large Spain and Geiskie farms four miles south of here extensive fires are raging. The smoke is so heavy for miles around that travel is hazardous. At one point the fire is approaching the C. E. & I. railway track and the railroad company may have to send firefighters to save its property. The great strip of timothy in Knox county between the Wabash and White rivers is ablaze in several scattered spots. Timber owners are fighting hard to prevent further spread of the fire.

MANY HOMES IN DANGER.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 26.—A strip of Mississippi valley bottom land ten miles wide and fifty miles long is burning, and the largest cypress trees in the state are threatened with destruction. Many homes are in danger and state aid has been asked. A heavy pall of smoke has settled over this part of the state.

THE FINAL COMPUTATION.

Congressional Appropriations Foot Up to Vast Total.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Congress appropriated at its last session $1,116,138,000 for the current fiscal year, against $1,098,788,000 for the last fiscal year, according to the final computation announced today.

The total actual appropriations exceeded the total of estimated revenue for the current fiscal year, the revenue estimated being $1,035,000,000.

TWENTY CARS LINE UP.

Corona Auto Race Promises Some Very Fast Going.

Corono, Cal., Nov. 26.—Twenty cars lined up for the start of the Corona automobile race scheduled for today. They were to travel the two and three-fourths mile circular track 109 times for $12,000 in purses. It was arranged to send the cars away on a flying start, four abreast. Although this method gives a second's advantage to those in the first row, it was adopted to obviate possible confusion in keeping the elapsed time of twenty cars on such a small circuit. The track was said by the drivers to be in shape for fast time.

FORTY HOGS ARE STOLEN FROM FARM

J. E. Tewksbury, Near Montpelier, is Robbed of Big Drove of Fine Fat Porkers.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 26.—The stealing of forty fine fat hogs from the farm of J. E. Tewksbury, cashier of the Purman, Johnston company store here. The hogs were taken at night and were not missed for several days after the robbery was committed. Wagon tracks into the place indicated that two wagons had been employed to haul away the porkers. One day last week Mr. Tewksbury took Sol Rea to the farm, where Mr. Rea purchased forty-three hogs from a drove of 130. Later Tewksbury butchered two of the remainder. Later, when Mort Chenoweth, who lives on another Tewksbury farm, inspected the drove, but forty-five remained. Forty were missing. Reports have been sent to stock buyers in cities in Northern Indiana to look out for these stolen hogs. After driving two or three days about the country Mr. Tewksbury has been unable to find any trace of the hogs. The loss at the market price of hogs is about $500, but for breeding purposes many of the stolen hogs were worth a great deal more than the market price.

THINKS HE SHAVED HOLDUP MEN.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—A slight trace of the two strangers who held up and robbed August Koenemann a week ago near Williams, has been obtained by the officers. Marshal Melchi was informed by a barber of Willshire, O., that he is confident that he shaved the two men the next morning after the robbery. When the barber reached his shop next morning, two strangers were waiting for a shave. From the description of the men which he read afterwards in the paper, together with the account of the hold-up, he is confident that they were the two offenders.

WARSAW SUBWAY COMPLETED.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 26.—The new Pennsylvania viaduct at the end of Market street has been completed and has been opened to the public traffic. By the opening of the new subway the old dangerous grade crossing has been removed where several fatalities have resulted in the past couple of years. The new viaduct was constructed at a cost of approximately $28,000, 75 per cent being paid by the Pennsylvania railroad and the other 25 per cent by the county. The new viaduct removed one of the worst grade crossings in this part of the state.

WANT HUNTING PROHIBITED.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—More than a hundred Adams county farmers have signed a petition presented to the board of county commissioners asking that hunting be prohibited until January 1 or thereafter if necessary as a precaution against the foot and mouth disease. No traces of the disease have been found in Adams county, and the petition is wholly precautionary. The commissioners have expressed themselves as favorable to the petition in case they have the necessary power.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Esther 8:1-9.

1 On that day did the king Ahasuerus give the house of Haman, the Jews' enemy, unto Esther the queen. And Mordecai came before the king; for Esther had told what he was unto her.

2 And the king took off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.

3 And Esther spake yet again before the king, and fell down at his feet, and besought him with tears to put away the mischief of Haman the Agagite, and his device that he had devised against the Jews.

4 Then the king held out the golden sceptre toward Esther. So Esther arose, and stood before the king,

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and the thing seem right before the king, and I be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to reverse the letters devised by Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy the Jews which are in all the king's provinces:

6 For how can I endure to see the evil that shall come unto my people? or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?

7 Then the king Ahasuerus said unto Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, because he laid his hand upon the Jews.

8 Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse.

9 Then were the king's scribes called at that time in the third month, that is, the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day thereof; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded unto the Jews, and to the lieutenants, and the deputies and rulers of the provinces which are from India unto Ethioplan, a hundred twenty and seven provinces, unto every province according to the writing thereof, and unto every people after their language, and to the Jews according to their writing, and according to their language.

Thanksgiving Day.

Doubtless no time in all the span of years from the first Thanksgiving day in America down to the present moment has there been an anniversary when the people of the United States have been furnished with occasion for more sincere and deeper observance of the festival of Thanksgiving than in this year of grace, 1914. That fact should make very real the significance of today. At the first flash of contemplation one's mind inevitably turns to the contrast supplied by war-torn and bleeding Europe and peaceful America. That is because that situation is altogether biggest in the world's eyes. Yet it does not constitute our entire reason for gratitude; it merely emphasizes the occasion for it.

If contemplation of that contrast shall serve today to give us a deeper appreciation of the significance of the American Thanksgiving and enable us to catalogue more carefully our own blessings, the result will be beneficial to all of us. The average man takes much as a matter of course. He is not inclined to place emphasis upon a good many things that may be fairly accounted blessings. Health, friends, comforts, a reasonable degree of prosperity and scores of other enjoyments are accepted as the natural order of things, and yet they make up the sum total of what makes life worth while. We ought to take account of them today as never before.

As a matter of fact, one day each year is much too brief a time in which to pause and "take stock" of ourselves much as does the merchant and the manufacturer. It will help mightily if an occasional rest from daily activities, the gaining of a livelihood, the struggle for advance, the accumulation of wealth or the fight against adverse circumstance enables us to get into a little closer communion with ourselves and see how nearly we approximate in deserts the over-balance of richness in life and in experience if not in dollars that the yearly account will most surely reveal. Thanksgiving day is splendid once a year; it would be much finer if its sentiments could be extended over all the rest of the days as well.

Thanksgiving day observance has changed with the times since Governor Bradford massed his pilgrim colony for that first general recognition years ago. We have found a larger scope for holiday activities and new methods of expression. Not all are commonly accounted as in absolute line with the sentiment of the holiday, but if the feasting and the frolics serve to carry with them at least some degree of appreciation of what Thanksgiving day really means, they are not without their admirable qualities. It is chiefly essential that in whatever wholesome paths the day may lead there be in our hearts deep and abiding gratitude to God for His infinite mercies and His uncounted blessings.

So, however you celebrate Thanksgiving today, do not lose sight of the real spirit of the holiday. Things during the past year may not have gone quite as you had hoped. Plans may not have been entirely realized. Some measure of success or of happiness you sought may still lack realization in the fullest abundance, but a careful search backward into the past year can scarcely fail to bring occasion for thankfulness to the people in this peace-blessed and God-favored land of ours today.

TO ABOLISH ELECTIONS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Still another case of "electoral fatigue" is reported from North Dakota, where a movement is on to reduce the number of elections by making the legislative and executive terms in the state four years. What with national and state primaries, local and state and national elections life in North Dakota, the dissatisfied say, has become one continuous political campaign. In the more thickly populated states voting places are reasonably close and little time is required to exercise the right of suffrage, but in the Dakotas it means a serious interruption of work. Then the cost is something to consider. Each primary costs about $100,000, and each election 25 per cent. more. Another saving of $150,000 would be gained, it is urged, by substituting quadrennial for biennial sessions of the legislature, to say nothing, as the cynics point out, of the economy of avoiding unnecessary legislation.

A further suggestion is that when the terms are made four years, it be decreed impossible to elect a man for consecutive terms. This, it is thought, would reduce the political temperature and tend to greater quiet. But three state offices, governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer, would be elective, the rest being appointive. A short ballot, long terms and no re-election is North Dakota's hope of finding time to attend to its ordinary business undisturbed by spellbinders and handshakers. It is symptomatic of a popular weariness of too much politics.

windows were open until 10 o'clock a. m.

Several events have been planned for the day, probably the biggest being the football game between the Friars and the Welsh hall team from Notre Dame. This evening the Friars will enjoy a banquet at the Anthony hotel. There were Thanksgiving day dinners and family reunions galore and also many social gatherings, especially this evening.

The school children of the county are enjoying a day's vacation. Both the railroads and the various traction lines have made extra provisions to take care of the tremendous crowds that always travel on Thanksgiving day. Several special cars were run on the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana traction line.

Origin of the Day.

While Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American institution, days of thanksgiving in recognition of special mercies have been common to all Christian nations for centuries, yet, since the annual celebration of the Feast of Ingathering by the Jews, no other nation has regularly set apart one day in each year for a thanksgiving festival.

Thanksgiving day was observed by the Pilgrims at Plymouth. There were but fifty-five English people to eat the first Thanksgiving feast, yet with the ninety Indians there were plenty to provide for.

The first thanksgiving service held in North America was observed with religious ceremonies conducted by an English minister in the year 1578, on the shores of Newfoundland. This clergyman accompanied the expedition under Frobisher, who settled the first English colony in America. Another similar service was held by the Popham colony, who settled at Sagadahoc on the Maine coast in 1607.

Many Dinners.

Thanksgiving dinners were given by the Elks, Buffaloes, Eagles and a number of other lodges. A special entertainment has been provided for the members of the Turnverein and their families at the Turner hall. All families were expected to take with them well filled baskets and at 6 o'clock supper will be served. At 7:30 o'clock a program will be given on the auditorium stage.

Annual "donation day" was observed Thursday afternoon at the Lutheran hospital.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux provided for a special dinner for the prisoners in the county jail, with roast chicken heading the list. There was a special dinner at the Allen County Orphans' home and county farm. Superintendent Bliss arranged a special dinner for the inmates at the Indiana school for feeble minded youth. There also was an entertainment preceding the dinner.

he did not have presence of mind to call for help, but fortunately the flash of light passing his mother's room awakened her and with a scream she leaped from her bed and by throwing bedclothing around her son's body succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Both of Claymiller's limbs were seriously burned, also his entire left side, but fortunately he did not inhale any of the flames or death would have been inevitable.

Origin of Fire.

Hanging from the ceiling is an electric light which nearly touches the bedclothing. It is believed that the heat from the globe set fire to the bedclothing while Claymiller lay asleep and it was no time until the entire bed was a mass of flames. The fire was extinguished without having to call the department.

Claymiller is a boilermaker at the Wabash boiler shop. His burns were dressed by Dr. C. F. Kaadt.

SEEKING A NEW MARKET FIELD

Indiana Canners Reach for Big Trade in South America.

Washington, Nov. 26.—At the request of Indiana canners, the state department is trying to persuade the government of Brazil and Argentina to reduce the import duties applying to American canned products. That it will be successful in its efforts is the prediction of the diplomatic representatives of those South American countries.

In a letter to Secretary of State Bryan, C. W. McReynolds, general manager of the Kokomo Canning company, of Kokomo, said that there are enough people in South America to consume at least twenty million cases of canned goods yearly; that half of that quantity would prevent the piling up of a surplus in years of an overproduction; that owing to the high duty it is impossible for American canners to export canned goods to South America.

He and other Indianians interested in the canning industry invoked the assistance of the state department to bring about a change in the tariffs on canned goods and without delay Secretary Bryan asked the American embassy at Rio de Janeiro and the American legation at Buenos Aires to persuade the governments of Brazil and Argentina to reduce the tariff on canned goods imported into the South American countries from the United States.

Effort Is Discussed.

"An official of the state department, in discussing the effort to have the tariff on canned products imported into South American countries from Indiana and elsewhere reduced, said: "Ambassador Morgan has continued energetically to impress this subject on the attention of the Brazilian foreign office. This department is in receipt of a dispatch from him saying that he has prepared and forwarded to the Brazilian minister for foreign affairs, with the request that he transmit it for the consideration of the minister of finance, a note on this subject, accompanied by a memorandum.

The following is an extract from the ambassador's report:

"'Should the finance minister follow the course which he usually adopts with memoranda of this character, he will refer them to the finance committee of the chamber of deputies, to whom the new tariff schedules will probably be sent for consideration. These schedules have been prepared by a tariff revision committee consisting of customs employes, sitting under the direction of Dr. Crescentino B. de Carvalho, inspector general of customs. There will be an occasion for the embassy to make further representations on behalf of American canners and other exporters when the finance committee of the chamber is studying the schedules.'

American Charge Diligent.

"The American charge at Buenos Aires also has been diligent, as shown by his recent dispatches, in urging the government of Argentina to reduce the import duties applying to American canned products. In a recent dispatch he expressed himself as confident that no changes in the tariff will be made during the present calendar year, but that his representation had been referred by the foreign office for the consideration of the tariff commission whenever that body should be organized. A subsequent dispatch from the charge transmits a bill for amending the tariff of Argentina, recently presented to the chamber of deputies by the socialist party.

Merchants Buying in U. S.

In view of the fact that the interruption of trade between Latin American countries and Europe, due to the European war, has led merchants of South America to seek supplies in the United States, and his suggestion from an interested American chamber of commerce that merchants and commercial bodies of Brazil and Argentina probably would co-operate in an endeavor to persuade the governments of those countries to make reductions in import duties, the embassy of Rio de Janeiro and the legation at Buenos Aires were instructed recently to make supplemental representation to the foreign offices of Brazil and Argentina in respect to reductions of duty on canned goods, unless in a judgment of the diplomatic representative local conditions render such representation inopportune. The department, of course, understands that the federal reserve board and the American bankers are studying the question of establishing better banking and credit facilities between the United States and the Latin American countries."

Indiana Products in West.

Testimony given before the interstate commerce commission recently by traffic experts of various railroads shows that shipments of vegetables and meats canned in Indiana are being made to the Pacific coast in large quantities, through the Panama canal. It is pointed out that much of this traffic is destined to Central and South American countries. It is confidently expected that if the state department, through its diplomatic agents in Brazil and Argentina is successful in its effort to have those countries reduce the import duties applying to American canned products, that the canning industry in Indiana and elsewhere will receive much benefit.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

RURAL CREDITS NOW LOOMING UP

Some Guesses on Program of Congress at Short Session.

(By Gilson Gardner)

Washington, Nov. 26.—Rural credits legislation was pledged by the administration and must be passed at the coming short session. When the federal reserve bill was pending, congressman from rural reserve districts demanded something which would be a direct help to the farmer. They were told that their proposition embarrassed the administration's effort to pass the bankers' bill and that if they would consent to wait, a separate bill would be passed providing rural credits. Conferences have been in progress during this week in this city between representatives of the granges and members of the senate and house committees interested in this legislation. Senator Fletcher of Florida has been trying to revive the Fletcher-Moss bill, while the grange people are pushing for the plan advocated by Herbert Quick which is opposed to bankers, intervention and contemplates cooperative organizations among the farmers similar to those in France and Germany. Representative Bulkeley of Ohio has advocated some measure of government aid in the form of loans at low interest of government funds to farmers.

Government ownership of telephones telegraphs is to be pushed to the front again this session. Postmaster General Burleson is in favor of this legislation but at the last session was asked by President Wilson to hold the matter in abeyance while the administration concentrated public attention on its main objectives—the repeal of canal tolls, the banking legislation and the trust program. Now, with these things out of the way, the Postmaster General sees no reason for further delay. He will be cordially backed by Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, who has put in many months of work investigating the subject and is thoroughly equipped to present it to the house.

As an employer of labor Uncle Sam is about the meanest in the business, judging by compensation paid to injured workmen and the families of those killed. Five years ago a federal workman's compensation law was passed covering artisans and laborers in manufacturing establishments, arsenals and navy yards, river and harbor, fortification work, and hazardous employment in the reclamation service and on the canal zone. Later this act was extended to include all isthmian canal employees, and persons engaged in hazardous work in the bureau of mines, the light house service and the forest service. About 95,000 persons are covered by the provisions of this law, somewhat less than one-fourth of the civilian employees of the federal government.

Since the passage of the act almost every state in the union has provided state laws on the subject of workmen's compensation. Judging by the amounts paid to injured workmen under the federal law Uncle Sam is less generous than any of the states and is a poor model for employers. For instance, it is found that a fracture of an arm or leg has been compensated on the average by payments of less than $25; the loss of an eye between $25 and $50; and the loss of both legs has been settled on the average of $377.40. Of fatal cases on the isthmian canal, the compensation averaged $410.77, while fatal cases elsewhere were settled at an average of $722.31. These figures cover an average based on 3,320 non-fatal cases, and fifty-six fatal cases during the past year. The small amounts of compensation under the act as compared with compensation under the various state laws, are due to the fact that under the federal law compensation payments limited to usual wages increase when the injured employe is able to resume work, and in any case cannot continue beyond twelve months. Under the more recently enacted state laws, compensation, usually on the basis of one-half or two-thirds the average wages, is paid in case of temporary disability during disability, or in case of death or permanent disability for a period extending to six years, and in several states to eight years.

The demands on diplomatic etiquette are manifold and diversified, as witness the fact that when Cristobel Pankhurst, the eldest daughter of the noted British militant Emmeline Pankhurst, was entertained in this city at a private Sunday afternoon tea, the Russian embassy (Russia now being on intimate terms as an ally of Great Britain) felt it necessary to pay a social courtesy to Britain's noted daughter by telephoning for permission to send to the reception an official representative of the Russian embassy staff.

ECZEMA BURNED SO NEARLY WENT CRAZY

354 Plum St., Youngstown, Ohio.—"Blotches like ringworms started to come out all over my face and neck. Later it took the form of white flakes and when I would rub they came off in little white scales. The eczema so disfigured me that I was ashamed to go out anywhere. It itched all the time and whenever I perspired or got my face the least bit wet, it would burn until I very nearly went crazy. The more I rubbed or scratched the more it spread and it made me so restless I could not sleep at night.

"I used one remedy after another, ——; —— and two or three others that were made at home, but none of them did any good and I was despairing of ever being cured. One day a friend prevailed upon me to get a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They caused the itching to stop instantly and in a very few days my face and neck began to show a marked improvement. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and my face and neck are completely cured." (Signed) Newton D. W. Chapman, Feb. 27, 1914.

Bartholomy—Carroll.

Miss Genevieve Cecelia Carroll and Mr. Louis Bartholomy were married in St. Patrick's church on Tuesday morning. Rev. J. F. Delaney celebrated the nuptial mass and many friends of the bride and her family were present to witness the marriage ceremony. Miss Bernadette Niezer and Mr. Joseph Carroll, of Huntington, a brother of the bride, were the attendants. The bride wore a blue broadcloth suit with a hat matching it in coloring, but trimmed with yellow farmandy. The bride's flowers were sunburst roses and the blouse she wore with her suit was of white silk and lace. Miss Niezer also wore a blue suit with a black hat trimmed with red roses and her flowers worn as a corsage were Richmond roses to correspond with her hat. Only the immediate family relatives attended the wedding breakfast, served at the bride's home in West Williams street. Later in the day the bride and groom went to Chicago, where they will visit Mr. Bartholomy's mother. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomy will be at home in an apartment in West Jefferson street. Mr. Bartholomy is manager of the National meat market. His home was formerly in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll, of Huntington, and their son, Kenneth, were the only guests from away. The bride is a bright and interesting young woman, very popular with her many friends.

Wiseman—Burger.

Mrs. Minnie Burger and Mr. W. E. Wiseman were quietly married on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Burger's daughter, Mrs. F. C. Crawford, of 1119 Nelson street, by Rev. Arthur J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church. A recent bereavement in the family of the bride caused the number of wedding guests to be limited to immediate relatives and a few of the most intimate friends.

MARRY IN HILLSDALE.

Many Fort Wayne Couples Go to Michigan, to Be Married.

William James Stuck and Laura Belle McKenzie were married in Hillsdale, Mich., on Tuesday by Rev. Louis DeLamarter, of the Methodist church. Another Fort Wayne couple married by the same minister very recently was Raymond Edward Mosher and Pearl Ethel Thorp. Rev. C. M. Cure, of the United Brethren church, performed the marriage ceremony on Tuesday for Julia Riehl and Elsworth C. White, and Nellie Tracey and Jesse Ferris eloped to Hillsdale on Wednesday, were married and returned home in the evening. A number of young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris heard of the elopement and met the bride and groom on their return home and escorted them to their residence. William O. Richey, an employe at the Packard piano factory, and Miss Virginia Masterson, of Bluffton, eloped away to Hillsdale and were married on November 11 by the Baptist minister, Rev. T. B. Martin. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Masterson, have just announced the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Richey will make their home in Fort Wayne and will keep house in Cottage avenue. Mr. Richey was formerly from Three Rivers, Mich.

INDIANAPOLIS MAN CLAIMS FORT WAYNE BRIDE.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MAIBUCHER.

A quiet wedding of today is that of Miss Margaret Kleber, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kleber, of South Hanna street whose marriage to Mr. William Maibucher, of Indianapolis, takes place this afternoon at the rectory of St. Peters' Catholic church. Rev. Charles Thiele is the officiating priest. Miss Bertha Frame and Mr. Arthur Lauer act as bridesmaid and groomsman and as witnesses to the marriage. The bride wears a tailored broadcloth suit of the shade known as the new Russian green. A delicate pink chiffon blouse combined with silk and white net gives a lovely touch of color to the bride, who is a striking brunette in type. A large black velvet hat with pink top facing, an edge of monkey fur and pink tips sets off the green of the suit and lends an elegant appearance to the bride's costume. The bride wears a corsage of pink roses. Only immediate relatives are asked to the wedding and Thanksgiving dinner at the home of the bride. Pretty decorations of the season's colors are effective on the table. The bride and groom will make their home in Indianapolis at the Richlew apartments. Mr. Maibucher is bookkeeper for the Frank A. Witt commission and brokerage house. The bride is bright and attractive and a favorite with many friends.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"The Chalk Line," in which Harlan E. Knight, the famous funmaker will star at the Temple in the bill for the closing half of the week opening this afternoon, is a playlet actually founded on an episode in real life and even now is being dramatized into a four-act comedy by Miss Una Clayton. The sketch deals with the life-long enmity of two irascible old backwoods Maine small towners, and the action is replete with comedy situations that make the one-act play a little gem.

When this bill shall have finished its run at the Temple the house will be ready to make its debut as a burlesque theater, booking the Barton circuit list of high-class refined shows. The Frolicques of 1914, Jean Bedini's classy combination of entertainers, will be the debuting attraction running all of next week at the Temple.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Bringing Up Father" at the Majestic Today.

The character of "Father" in George McManus' cartoon creation of "Bringing Up Father" takes us back to the days of Barry and Fay, the real Irish Tads. Gus Hill's production, framed from the McManus pictures, offers excellent opportunities for hilarious comeedy and when you have witnessed a performance of "Bringing Up Father" you will agree that that master of stagecraft has not overlooked a single point. "Bringing Up Father" is destined to be more than successful. Indications are that it will break all box office records. You can't stop the natural progress of time, of course, even in two years matters theatrical have advanced a step. "Bringing Up Father" has the advantage of Mr. Hill's former productions; it's right up to the minute in every detail.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Thanksgiving day brings a show of high class to Fort Wayne, one which will make everyone who sees it thankful that he has attended the Empress. The headline act is Buch Brothers in a most entertaining gymnastic and comedy hit called "Ship Ahoy." In this act they have hundreds of laughs and they perform feats which keep the members of the audience in a constant state of merriment and smiles. It is a real laugh act and one that forms a most appetizing bit on a Thanksgiving menu.

Jones and Johnson, the famous colored comedians, are on this bill with a funny lot of stuff. They are comedians supreme and are laugh extractors of superior abilities. Yvonne, the accomplished woman musician, will play on the piano accordeon at the Empress during the last half of the week. She is the empress of all accordeon players. Charles and Sallie Dunbar contribute a song and dance act of great merit to this bill and Alvardo's Goats with a real novelty complete this bill.

Thanksgiving is a real day of thanks in Fort Wayne in that it gives local theatergoers the opportunity of seeing such a great bill.

Young Girl Gives a Birthday Party

MISS SILVIA M'CLAIN.

Miss Silvia McClain, whose home is about eight miles west of Fort Wayne, at Homestead, celebrated her fourteenth birth anniversary on Saturday, November 21, by having a party of her young friends at her home. All spent a delightful afternoon playing games and then disposedg of a bountiful and excellent supper. There were present Charles Druley, of Mardenis; Miss Ella Nicholson, of Homestead, Miss Gladys Dennis, of Roanoke; Thelma Feeters, Gladys, Irene and Gertrude Pequignot, Florence Scott, Clara Drury. Miss Silvia was presented with a number of useful gifts.

THE ORPHEUM.

KING BAGGOTT IN "HUMAN HEARTS"

King Baggott, who is without a doubt the largest and most incandescent star in the Universal constellation, dominates an excellent Thanksgiving program in a powerful three-section drama, "Human Hearts."

The story itself was adapted from the original novel by Hal Reid and tells of Tom Logan, a blacksmith, who deserts his pretty rural sweetheart to marry a woman of the city. He is cast off by his family for this deed, and in after years finds a small degree of connubial bliss with his metropolitan wife. She, however, tires of the conventional life she is called upon to lead, and when an ardent old flame appears she accedes to his temptings and runs away, but not before they have killed the elder Logan, thinking they were making away with Tom. The boy is accused of the crime and serves a term in state's prison because of the circumstantial evidence produced. In after years, when he is released, he returns to his home town, the true criminals are apprehended and Tom is once more free to take his little country sweetheart to his arms.

The musical program today will include the "Semper Fidelis" march together with one of the quick stepping Von Tilzer compositions, "Way Down East Tonight." Miss Lyons has elected to sing "Where the River Kenaure Flows."

AT THE JEFFERSON.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

Is Leading Light on Jefferson Program In Ladies' World Prize Story.

"In the Glare of the Lights," the prize story which appeared in the Ladies' World a short time ago, and which has since been set to film by the Essanay company, will be the stellar attraction at the Jefferson today, with Francis X. Bushman in the titular leading role, assisted by every one of his sterling company.

Bushman is given numerous opportunities to display his versatility in this picture, taking the part of Glen Duval, a steel worker in the mills, who has an ambition to go on the stage. How he succeeds and the adventures that befall him after he gets there make a tale of unusual and gripping appeal.

"The Toreador's Oath" is a story of the passionate Latin. A powerful plot is surveyed amid a locale that is immediately recognized as the city of Madrid. A few bull fights enliven the rapid action of the story, which absorbs from introduction to finish.

The last numbers are a couple of filmettes, one a Wiffles comedy and the other a scenic picture of Colombo, pictures in natural colors.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

To remove pitch, grease and tar stains soak in turpentine. Scrape off carefully with a knife all the loose surface dirt; sponge clean with turpentine.

Hard boiled eggs should be plunged into cold water as soon as they are removed from the saucepan. This prevents a dark ring from appearing around the yolk

To revive withered flowers plunge the stalks in boiling water and leave them in it until it becomes cold. Then cut about one inch from the ends of the stalks.

There is nothing better to remove tar from white clothing than lard. Rub it well into the spot and then wash it out with soap and warm water.

Needles and pins will never rust in a cushion filled with coffee grounds Rinse the grounds in cold water, spread on a sheet of paper to dry thoroughly, and then stuff the cushion.

To remove tar stains rub the spot first with lard and then with soap. Leave for an hour and then wash in hot water softened with ammonia. If traces still remain, rub with turpentine.

To make glass ware glisten, wash the glass and rinse in hot water, then plunge into cold water into which a handful of starch has been dissolved. Drain the glassware on towels until perfectly dry, then polish with a dry cloth.

If you wish to prevent green vegetables from boiling over, drop a piece of dripping the size of a walnut into the center of them, just as they commence to boil.

When making a steamed pudding put a piece of well greased paper over the top before tying the cloth. This will prevent the cloths from becoming greasy and they are no trouble to wash.

It is a good plan in darning stockings to hold the darning wool for a minute or two over the spout of a kettle of boiling water. This skrinks the wool, and when the stockings are washed there is no fear of mended parts shrinking and so tearing away from surrounding parts, so that the stockings last much longer.

Chamois leather is rather expensive, so that it is just as well to know how to clean it. Put into a weak solution of soda into which you have thrown some grated soap. Leave it for two hours and then rub it until clean. Finally rinse the leather in warm soapy water. Wring the leather in a linen cloth and dry quickly. It can also be rubbed dry and brushed until soft.

The nervous housewife who lives in constant dread of fire may, with very little trouble, make an extinguisher that will put out a blaze if used at once. All she needs to do is to put three pounds of salt in a gallon of water, and to this add a pound and a half of sal ammoniac. This liquid should be bottled, and when the fire is discovered it should be pour on it.

Is It Cape or Coat? That's the Question

The distinctive thing about this costume is the arrangement of the straps which give the effect of a cape, though the garment is really a coat.

Gabardine, the material which seems to have entirely supplanted serge in the favor of fashionable women, is used to develop this model. It will be noticed that the skirt is wide though not of the extreme four-yard width.

English Militant Suffragette Submits One Very Definite Plan.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 26.—For the first time in history the advocates of peace are offered a positive program. Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, the English militant suffragist, is responsible. Mrs. Lawrence has started on a campaign throughout the United States, the beginning of which has already been made in New York and Washington. Brushing aside the Carnegie societies and the sentimentalists, she gets down to the real thing when she demands that the women of the world demand peace on the following basis:

First, that the war-making power shall be brought under the control of the people; that it shall be, as she expresses it, democratized; in other words that some constitutional machinery shall be devised where none exists at present, by which the people shall exercise control over the foreign policies of their governments; that in carrying this out all treaties and alliances shall be ratified by representatives of the people.

Second, that as a first step to prevent wars, the manufacture of armaments shall be nationalized and the export of munitions of war from one country to another shall be made impossible.

Third, that at the conclusion of the present war the allies shall be held to their slogan that this is a war to end war.

Fourth, that at the conclusion of peace no province shall be transferred from one government to another without the consent of the population concerned; that this consent shall be obtained by a referendum vote of the inhabitants of such province, including women.

Fifth, that women as well as men shall be sent as representatives to the Hague conference.

Sixth, that the democracies of the world shall press for some kind of international agreement by which all nations shall put themselves at the back of any one law-abiding nation which is aggressively attacked or of any small country that is menaced by a larger power.

Seventh, that there be formed a senate of European nations for the discussion of international problems such as the securing of sea ports or other needed commercial highways by purchase instead of by secret diplomacy, treachery or slaughter.

Mrs. Pethick Lawrence has discontinued her work as treasurer of the Women's Social and Political union—the militant organization of England—to work for this cause, which she names "conservative peace." She is not openly antagonizing the Andrew Carnegie "pescists," but her program is entirely unlike the negative and sterilized product of the professional peace foundations.

No mistake is more commonly made than the assumption that the congress which meets after an election is the congress which has just been elected. It is natural that people should suppose this. The fact is, however, the congress elected November 3 does not meet until a year from December 7 unless it is called in special session by the president. The congress which meets this December is the old congress. The reason for this almost unbelievable delay in meeting to carry out the expressed will of the election is to be found in the history of congress. When that body was created there were no railroads, no telegraphs, no steamships and the men elected were obliged to take journeys on horseback or stage sometimes requiring months. The constitution makers purposely left a sufficient interval for these journeys. In addition they were gentlemen who believed in the "sober second thought" of the people, and in "checks and balances" on what the people wanted. The long interval was one of the "checks." It is out of date and ought to be abolished.

HAVE SOME OSTRICH?

Chicago Restaurants May Try a Thanksgiving Change.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—"The ostrich is very nice. It's well browned and tender."

This is what Charles, the waiter, will say in some of the Chicago restaurants on Thanksgiving day. Ostrich is to be the piece de resistance in some cases, the chef d'ouvre in others, and something else French, if the makers of bills of fare can think it up.

An ostrich must weigh less than fifty pounds to give assurance that its meat is tender. The price is fifty cents a pound. If father takes one of the California birds home it will be only after he has parted with at least $25, but that is not so alarming, seeing that the new federal reserve bank opened for business recently.

A South Water street commission firm has received the first birds. They came from Arizona. R. H. Getting, of the firm, said two restaurants had invested in the birds for the Thanksgiving spread.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at the Sentinel office, on West Wayne street, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the various charitable organizations.

He's Thankful for His Face--the Funny One You've Seen in Movies

John Bunny Stops Feeding His $50,000 Countenance Long Enough to Tell Miss Hoffman Some Thanksgiving Day Stories.

Above, the best picture of John Bunny's face ever taken; below, John Bunny telling Miss Hoffmann about the time he was too polite at a Thanksgiving day dinner.

"For what will I give thanks, eh?" chuckled John Bunny—the funny, sunny Bunny—prince of the realm of films—when I asked him for what special gift would he thank fortune on the day of thanksgiving.

"Why, girl alive, look in my face—there's your answer," fairly shouted the ponderous Bunny, for Bunny has as much voice as he has face.

"Is there another 'mug' in the world like this?" demanded funny Mr. Bunny. "If there is it isn't in captivity—not yet. See what it's worth to me; made me rich; put money in my purse. Why, when it comes to coining 'chink,' the United States mint hasn't much on this 'mug' of mine.

"And they do say I'm popular with the public—and all on account of my elaborate face. A chap told me once that the 'Bunny face' was better known 'round the country than the Teddy Roosevelt teeth. That's saying something for my face; that's a face to give thanks for 365 days in the year, and if I wasn't so all-rolling fat I'd get down on my knees this blessed Thanksgiving day and say, 'Thank you, kind fortune, for my face.' I'll give thanks for it, anyway, but I'll sit down to it and be comfortable.

"Yet a face like mine is a great responsibility," sighed Bunny, not so funny now as he dwelt upon the serious side of the funny-face business.

"You see, my face being my fortune, I must feed it well. That's the big job of my life—feeding my face. It doesn't sound delicate, but it does make a murmur like $50,000 a year, so I don't mind.

"My face wasn't always so well fed, though," sighed John Bunny. "Memory slips back every now and then to a certain Thanksgiving when the good wife and the kids had just some dry bread and frankfurters for Thanksgiving dinner, and 'dad' didn't eat at all that day—and he didn't feel a bit funny.

"But let me tell you about another Thanksgiving story. It happened in Philadelphia, but it isn't so slow. I was dining with a friend and doing justice to the spread when I thought I'd offer some apology for making the turkey platter look like Liege after the siege and I said, 'I believe the best way to show appreciation of a good meal is to eat heartily—you see I am polite.'" 'Indeed,' retorted my hostess. 'You've carried politeness to the point of flattery.' It was a quick comeback and the laugh was on me, but it gave a good relish to a good dinner.

"Did I ever tell you about that oldest boy of mine?" queried Bunny. "No? Well, one Thanksgiving day I cautioned him not to eat so much turkey or there'd be no room for the pumpkin pie. 'I'm remembering,' he said, 'and I'm saving my neck for the dessert.'"

And so John Bunny told his funny-Bunny stories and every yarn seemed to add another crease to the triple chin another little puff to the expansive cheeks of the face for which the "funniest man in the movies" gives devout thanks on Thanksgiving day.

JEALOUS WIFE TRAILS HUBBY

Mrs. Myers, Working in Disguise, Puts Affinities in a Panic.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Minnie Myers, disillusioned wife, has put the art of make-up to such extraordinary and sinister use that she has the "affinities" of this city into a panic.

Disguised as an old lame woman, this attractive but suspicious young matron followed her husband, Charles H. Myers, a real estate dealer, about the streets to cafes and other rendezous where she asserts she easily certified her fears regarding her husband's conduct.

So successful was her make-up that she often stood within a few feet of her husband while he talked with another woman, remaining unrecognized.

Now Mrs. Myers, who had him arrested on a charge of non-support, wants a divorce.

Here are some things she also alleges she watched him do at such times as she hovers near in the disguise of an old woman:

"Go to a cafe with a picturesque blonde and buy champagne on the day after he had upbraided his wife for spending 10 cents for breakfast.

"Move to an apartment so as to be near 'the other woman.'

"Enter a hotel with the blonde woman.

"Purchase woman's clothes, jewelry and groceries that were not delivered to his wife.

"Hire private detectives to trail his wife, but whom she dodged."

Mrs. Myers said she was preparing to give evidence she had gathered in this fashion and on which she expected to send her husband to jail.

Her make-up consists of borrowed clothes, a white wig and a powdered, artificially lined face. She limped pronouncedly, and carried a cane.

GRIPPING STORIES OF FRONTIER WRITTEN BY HOUSEWIFE.

BERTHE KNATVOLD MELLETT.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 26.—A quiet dainty little woman who writes powerful stories of turbulence and soul-searching tragedies of the north, pulsing with the primitive, when she isn't washing dishes or baking pies for her husband in a suburban cottage here, is the latest discovery of a standard magazine which heralds her as another Jack London or Rex Beach. She is Berthe Knatvold Mellett, wife of a newspaper man.

The stories of Alaska responsible for her deserved fame are "The Woman From Three Above" and "The Man Who Was Afraid," thrilling episodes of the frozen lands which were published in the Red Book recently.

Mrs. Mellett got her training as a writer while "doing" feature work for Tacoma, Wash., papers. "The Woman from Three Above" was the first fiction she ever wrote, and brought her instant recognition.

Her typewriter is placed at a window which opens upon a drowsy, peaceful tangle of garden and trees here, with Lake Washington gleaming through. Here Mrs. Mellett "pounds out the blood and thunder stuff," as she calls her red-blooded Alaskan yarns of times when men lived close to the primitive, when women were fought for with cave-man methods, when gold and passion, fear and hate ruled a hard and frosted land.

It is in a quiet and peaceful home atmosphere that this dainty author spins her tales of forthright wickedness and fury.

Mrs. Mellett, however, knows Alaska. She was there in 1900-01 when few if any laws of God or man "ran north of 53." She saw masked vigilantes go out at night and shoot down claim jumpers—witnessed much of the harsh justice with which harsher lawlessness was fought and subdued.

"When great things are happening," says Mrs. Mellett, explaining the lapse of time between the incidents she witnessed and her literary interpretation of them, "they do not seem great. You must wait and get a perspective of them to clearly see their significance."

Our Thanks to the Almighty

(In a letter to the editor of the Sentinel the other day, "Constant Reader" said: "Editor—There's going to be a new program for my family this Thanksgiving day. First thing, I'm going to thank God, in my heart if not on my knees, for all I've had during the year and for what I've still got. When I see homes burning, human corpses rotting, wives and children wandering, hungry and homeless, all over that beautiful foreign world, while I have my wife and babies in my arms, safe and cared for, my heart goes out to God. And so, on Thanksgiving morning, my children are going to hear their father talk some about the goodness of the Almighty, who has protected them from war, famine and pestilence, while millions of their fellow beings were suffering."

The editor offers "Constant Reader" and all constant readers of this newspaper the following psalm to read as an appropriate hymn to thankfulness to the Almighty on this 1914 Thanksgiving morn.)

THE NINETY-FIRST PSALM.

HE that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge, and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust.

Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

He shall cover thee with His feathers, and under His wings shalt thou trust: His truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor the arrow that flieth by day.

Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness, nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation.

There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

For He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder; the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

"Because he has set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

"He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

"With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation."

YANKEE GIRLS SEE AMERICA FOR FIRST TIME AFTER CROSSING PACIFIC ALONE.

Catherine and Elsie Binder, fifteen and eleven years old, respectively, both born in Yokahama, Japan, saw America for the first time when they arrived in San Francisco recently on the liner Cniyo Maru, having made the long journey alone to meet their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. Binder, of Tacoma, Wash. The two girls have been living with their brother, who is an official with an electrical firm of the Orient. The children speak English perfectly, as well as German, French, Chinese and Japanese, having been educated in a French convent school in Japan. The parents had not seen their daughters for five years.

TEAMS READY TO FIGHT FOR GAME

Walsh Hall Foot Ball Eleven in City and Expects to Win.

Confident that it would win the Thanksgiving football game from the Friars, players on the Walsh hall team arrived in Fort Wayne from South Bend early Thursday morning fit to uphold the reputation of the University of Notre Dame in the encounter.

Fully convinced that they would be able to give the collegians a stiff argument in the encounter, the Friar players were all keyed for the struggle, and, realizing that they had a tough proposition on hand, were prepared to put on the best article they know how to play.

Patrons of the game were prepared to see the best football game of the year as a Notre Dame booking means always that every person who puts up the price of a ticket will get the full worth of the money invested and everything pointed to a good contest and a big attendance.

Before the big game the city championship will have been decided as the West End team and the Bachelors, who had eliminated their opposition in the preliminary skirmishes, were booked to battle for the honor and both clubs anticipated a victory. This game is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock and the kickoff in the Friar game will take place an hour later.

A parade with the Elks' band leading was on the program for the afternoon and the game is to be followed by the annual banquet. The clubs will line up as follows:

NOTRE DAME HAS BETTER CHANCE

New York, Nov. 26.—In the waning football season Philadelphia today stages the Thanksgiving holiday game of greatest interest in the east. There Cornell and Pennsylvania meet this afternoon with the Ithacans, generally looked upon as 2 to 1 favorites. In the intersectional contest, which brings Notre Dame to Syracuse, the westerners are believed to stand the better chance of winning. Football experts look for an easy victory by Brown over Providence. The eastern games include Lafayette vs. Dickinson, Vermont vs. Holycross, Washington and Jefferson vs. Bucknell, Pittsburg vs. Penn State, Villa Nova vs. Fordham and Rutgers vs. New York university.

PARTY RETURNS WITH 67 FISH

While they do not want it to leak out the members of the party who returned Wednesday morning after spending several days at Clear lake cisco fishing only caught sixty-seven fish. Heretofore they have caught them by the hundreds and without the least bit of trouble. This year there were sixty-seven measly fish caught and after several days of hard work and exposure.

No doubt it would be most difficult to get any of the members of the party to say how many fish were actually caught, nevertheless sixty-seven is the correct number. Charles A. Biederwolf, secretary of the Commercial club, admitted that fishing was not as good this year as usual, but further than that he would not talk.

Those in the party were Charles L. Biederwolf, Dan Clemens, Austin Stultz, Fred McCulloch, Dr. E. W. Dodez, Frank Martin, Bud Brokaw, Gordon Riggin and Larry Randall.

NATIONALS BEAT TURNERS.

The Nationals beat the Turner Juniors at St. Paul's auditorium last night by a score of 43 to 13. Superior speed and team play were the principal factors that enabled the Nationals to defeat a much heavier team. Hoffman and Stegner were the individual stars of the contest, having credit for fifteen baskets between them. Line-up and score:

Nationals—Hoffman and Stegner, forwards; Walda, center; Adams and Linnemaier, guards.

Turner Juniors—Kendricks, Reed and Oberwitte, forwards; Bauerle, center; Scherer and Ortlieb, guards.

Field goals—Hoffman, 8; Stegner, 7; Walda, 2; Adams, 2; Linnemaier, 1; Kendricks, 2; Bauerle, 2; Ortlieb, 1; Oberwitte, 1.

Goals on free throws—Adams, 3; Oberwitte, 1.

In the preliminary the St. Paul Juniors won from the T. C. C.'s by a score of 88 to 4.

ICE GIVES WAY.

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Comes Near Drowning in Delta Lake.

Harold Miller, 13 years old, narrowly escaped drowning Wednesday evening when the ice on which he was playing at the edge of the Delta lake gave way. He went entirely under the water. When he came up he grabbed hold of a branch of an old tree where he clung until rescued by means of a rope thrown to him by John L. Roussey, a neighbor. Miller is a son of George B. Miller, 1030 Crescent avenue.

New Style Foot Ball Will Stay and May be Improved in Time

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

There were a dozen old football men gathered in a box at the game between Minnesota and Chicago. Two men had won "Y's," there were two Dartmouth men, one Princeton veteran, a couple of ex-Illini and one of Michigan. Not one had played football in the last seven years, and most of them date back to the time when they formed flying wedges and trampled upon each other's countenances.

From the first kickoff there was nothing but quarreling and complaining and criticism of football as it is now played. Only two in the gang defended the new style of football. The others took the ground that it has been tamed down; ruined. They did not get warmed up at all until Minnesota started its straight line plunging in the final quarter and tore up Chicago's crippled defense.

"Ah," said one gloatingly, "that is more like the old time game."

It is only under such conditions that illustrate how much the game has changed. That is, there still remain some bad defects in the game, and these seemingly not hard to remedy.

It certainly is a much better game for the spectators and the public has discovered this without being told. Also, it is a better game from the standpoint of generalship. There is much more chance for brilliant strategy and less of a premium on brute strength and weight.

Possibly the rule makers erred in barring the coaches from the field during play.

Of course, it is understood why this agreement was reached. It was because some coaches went too far, and, to correct this evil, the rule makers went too far themselves.

It has been proved repeatedly this fall that the teams need a cool directing head on the sidelines to prevent panics and one with the authority to remove players from games when they insist upon playing after being injured.

The veterans may complain all they please and criticise the new game; but their criticism will not stop the evolution of college football. The evolution is natural, and to a certainty there is going to be even further development of the game. This information does not come from the rule makers or from the coaches. It comes from observation.

A few days ago a swarm of youngsters were playing football, or practicing. They were throwing a football rapidly and accurately twenty, thirty, sometimes even fifty feet, and throwing and catching while running.

They admitted they like that kind of game better, and that there is more action and more skill in it. By the time these boys make high school teams they will be adepts at throwing and catching the ball—and it simply means that the passing game has come to stay.

Heilbroner Will Soon Take Up Question of Adding Clubs.

Directors of the Central league are agreed that they want an eight-club circuit next season and the matter is in the hands of President Louis Heilbroner, who is back from a visit to his sister at Ardmore, Okla., which followed his stay at the Omaha meeting of the national association.

He expects that there will be some material changes in the topography of several of the minor leagues before the first of the new year and until this point is determined he will do nothing more than investigate conditions in the cities which have applied for admission to the Central.

This means, of course, that nothing definite was determined at the Omaha meeting. Unless he finds that he can expect some big advantages from adding three clubs and making the total eight he will just devote himself to securing one more to build back to six, where the matter stood before Sol Meyer quit at Springfield.

Until football has had its run there will be little doing in baseball. Mr. Heilbroner believes it is difficult to divide interest between the two sports and will keep quiet until it is time for his game to come out of winter quarters.

NINE GAMES THE LOGICAL NUMBER

Secretary Heydler is Opposed to New Idea in World Series.

New York, Nov. 26.—The announcement that the national commission is in favor of an eleven game series to decide the world's baseball championship and a reduction in the prices has opened up a new line of argument which is already being traversed by every baseball man within hailing distance. Some favor it and some oppose it. There are good arguments advanced both pro and con.

"I am in favor of nine games being played," remarked John A. Heydler, secretary of the National league. "I think it would be a good change if for no other reason than it would afford more fans a chance to see the big games.

"Ever since the inception of the world's series," continued Mr. Heydler, "each autumn has been accompanied by grumbling and dissatisfaction. Those who have supported baseball throughout the season complain that they are unable to procure tickets for the world's series games. All hands cannot possibly be accommodated. When one or two hundred thousand persons want to see a series of games and there is room for less than onefifth that number at each game it stands to reason that thousands are going to be disappointed. Therefore by increasing the number of games more persons can see the series. All of them do not see all of the games."

This undoubtedly is a strong argument in favor of the nine game series. But there is another side to the question. A nine game series will not show any more than a seven game series. Any short series is necessarily a battle between pitchers. The difference between seven and nine games is not grad enough to make any material difference so far as the actual play is concerned, nor will it be any more of a test of the real strength of the competing teams.

There is something else that those who are opposed to lengthening the series advance. Most world's series have been decided without a seventh game being necessary. This shows that one or the other of the teams has had the edge from the start, and, naturally, the longer the series is prolonged the less intense will be manifested.

As to the lowering of the prices, the majority appear to be opposed to it, not because it means less money to the players and clubs, but because there is no way of being sure that by so doing the "fans" will be benefited. It will have a tendency to increase ticket speculation. There are always some who will sell their tickets to speculators and, since the demand to see the games will be just as great as ever, the "specs" will be able to sell the tickets for many times their face value and at big profits.

SPREADING RAILS CAUSE IT.

Special Thanksgiving Train in a Wreck Near Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 26.—A wreck believed to have been due to the spreading of the rails resulted in the death yesterday of Thomas Mattox, of Palestine, Ill., an engineer of the Illinois Central's special Thanksgiving train, which left Indianapolis at 10:45 o'clock bound for Bloomington. The train of four coaches moving backward was ditched at Treviac, Brown county, twenty-five miles north of here. The wreck occurred at noon as the train was coming here to carry Indiana university students departing for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Fireman Martin Bogard and Conductor H. Overberg, both of Indianapolis, jumped from the train in time to save their lives. Bogard was slightly injured. W. C. Turpin, of Indianapolis, an operator, who was riding in the cab, was bruised.

W. R. Cullen

W. R. Cullen, who is representing Buffalo in the Interstate Three-cushion Billiard league tournament, seems to have hit his stride after a run of tough luck. Cullen is one of the "G. A. R." of the angle game and promises now to be a strong bidder for the championship honors. If he keeps up the pace he is setting Lean and Kling will have a hard time holding their advantage in the race as Cullen's specialty seems to be toppling the leaders. He is soon to go on a tour and will tackle all the leaders in their own rooms.

THE INTER STATE DOCTORS WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Saturday Morning at 10 O'clock is Date Set for Opening of Institute.

SICK ARE ANX-IOUSLY WAITING

Dr. Bartlett Will Receive the Sick at New Institute at 205 W. Berry St.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock is the time for the opening for the Inter-State Doctors' New Institute, which is located on the second floor, 205 West Berry street, and this will no doubt be a very busy day for these specialists. News of the wonderful cures being made by the new system of medicine in our neighboring states of Ohio and Illinois, has reached Fort Wayne and hundreds of sick people have been waiting this wonderful opportunity of being treated by the Inter-State Doctors. In the cities where the Inter-State Doctors have older institutes the great work that is being done by these specialists in the way of treating old chronic cases that could not even be helped by ordinary doctors and medicines, is well known, and these older institutes are always crowded with patients, many coming hundreds of miles to be relieved. In Fort Wayne, of course, their work is practically unknown, except to some who have seen cures made or to the readers of Ohio, Pennsylvania and eastern daily papers, or to progressive physicians who have read accounts of the work in the daily papers or medical journals. To those who have followed the career of the Inter-State Doctors it is evident that a new era is dawning in medicine, and that the day is not far distant when allopath, eclectics, and homeopaths of the old schools must drop their prejudices and work more for the good of humanity and less for the glory of their particular school of medicine. The day is not far distant when medical colleges will be founded to teach the new Inter-State system of practicing physicians—teach them to see the science of medicine from all sides instead of from the narrow view point of an allopath, homeopath or an eclectic.

The generous offer of the Inter-State Doctors of free examination and free treatment until cured, except a small charge for the medicine, which is extended to all patients accepted for treatment before Dec. 15, will bring them a large number of patients in a short time, and soon their work will be as well and favorably known here as in the cities where they have older institutes.

It is an invariable rule of the Inter-State Doctors to accept only curable cases for treatment. True, there are many cases that are incurable by the old methods which can be quickly relieved by the Inter-State Treatment. The Inter-State Doctors solicit the difficult or supposedly the incurable cases. Those which are beyond hope, which cannot be cured even by this system of medicine, will not be accepted for treatment at any price. The Inter-State want a clear record of all cases cured and no failures.

The Inter-State treat all curable cases of chronic diseases, including dropsy, blood poison, eczema, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, rheumatism, neuralgia, loss of nerve force, constipation, goitre, catarrh, epilepsy, indigestion, dyspepsia, weak back, bloating, scrofula, diseases of men and diseases of women. Any sick person is safe in going to the Inter-State Doctors. Their examination and consultation are free. Only curable cases are accepted for treatment, and for that reason every case placed in their care is practically assured of a cure. As stated above, the Fort Wayne institute of the Inter-State Doctors, on the second floor, 205 West Berry street, will be open to receive patients Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The grand free offer is good only until Dec. 15.—Adv.

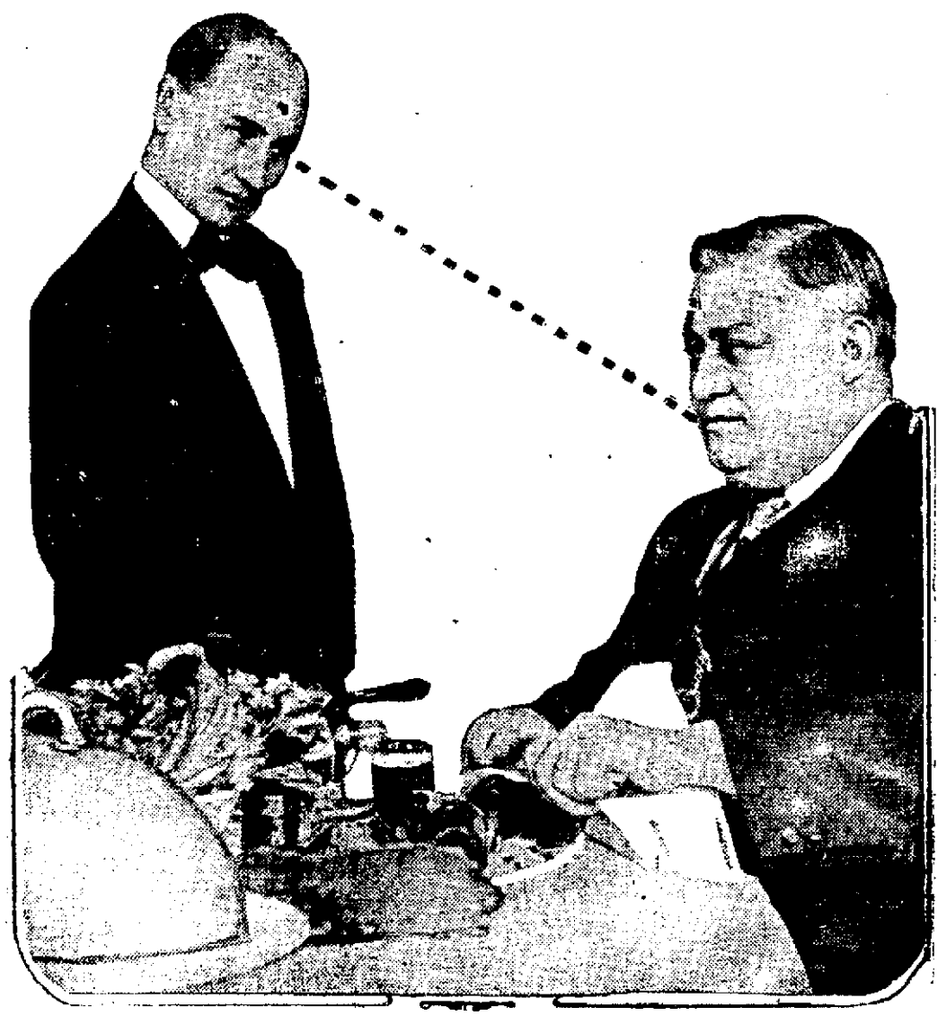
Cheese Nuts.
Coffee. Brandy.



George Rozakles, Chicago's champion eater, sitting down to one of his gigantic meals in his favorite restaurant.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—George Rozakles will eat the biggest and perhaps the best Thanksgiving dinner of any person in the United States, and will eat it with thankfulness in proportion to his meal.

On Thanksgiving afternoon he will consume approximately sixteen pounds of food. His program for the day of thanks is all made, and he is duly thankful, for his florist shop prospers; his family living in his comfortable home on the south side, is healthy, and his appetite is good, although he confesses sadly it is not what it was when he was eating to contradict doctors and to prove to doubters that he could perform prodigious feats of gastronomy.

Thanksgiving dinner this year will be "just a simple, little, family dinner," as he says. Indeed, he is not strong on frilly, fancy dishes, but prefers the plain, straight cooking of good, solid food.

He will attend to business at his florist shop downtown until noon, then adjourn to Stillson's restaurant and eat "a light lunch" to take the edge off his appetite. He will have clams, his favorite ripe olives, a broiled lobster, lettuce with his own kind of French dressing, coffee, perhaps a bottle or two of ale and a brandy.

After thus "warming up" he will return to work and reach home in time for the real dinner about 3:30. A twenty-five-pound turkey will grace the board, for George and his family, and, besides there will be an array of side dishes that will make good the country editor's phrase, "Make the table groan."

Two days after this Thanksgiving feast George has a contest. He is to eat a twenty-five-pound roast lamb and drink twenty-five pints of beer at one sitting. "Sitting" is incorrect for while George sits at table while eating at home he stands while engaged in eating contests.

Dyspeptics are warned not to peep in at the window while George eats. He eats for pleasure, and it is a pleasure to watch him eat. While at table he cares nothing for the high cost of living. He enjoys himself and declares that with one exception he never has eaten anything he did not enjoy. That was the time he ate thirty five quail in thirty-five consecutive days. The thirty-third one did not taste good, even though he finished by eating six at once, after the doctors declared the task impossible.

Besides being a remarkable eater, Rozakles is an excellent cook and loves to prepare his own dishes. He is a judge of food and is one of the best known men in the loop restaurants of Chicago. He does not care much for his reputation as an eater and often eats one lunch in one restaurant, then goes to another to finish up, so that his appetite will not be noticed. He is admitted champion around Chicago. A few have tried to eat against him, but, after watching him for an hour or two, they forfeit and quit.

If you will study George's appetite, you will see that he is a sensible eater, eats good things and healthy things. He loves clams and lobsters. He eats olives in large quantities, especially ripe olives, claiming they are excellent for the digestion.

He eats great quantities of celery, believing it one of the healthiest of foods. His salads are chiefly of lettuce and apples and celery, with a French dressing that he mixes for himself that is a dream, although he uses much oil.

He cares little for pastries or pies, loves fruit, and his desserts are usually of fruit. He eats fruit between meals. Rozakles says he always has had an enormous appetite, but not always the means to satisfy it.

He came from Greece, and is one of the most striking-looking men among the Greeks of Chicago. His hair is white, his face clear and complexion perfect, although he is well past middle age. His immense chest and shoulders hide any waist line that may be there. He is a well-proportioned, strong, healthy man.

THIS TURK MAY BE FEATURED "SISSY," BUT OFF RECORD SAVES HIS HEAD TODAY.

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—Male suffragism is spreading. It has invaded the bird kingdom. "Muscat," a prize-winning turkey gobbler, is the shining example.

Shattering all barnyard precedent, this remarkable old feathered monarch has assumed the most delicate domestic function of his kind, hatching and successfully rearing his second brood of young turks.

He is quite willing to sit tight and hatch eggs while the handsome hens of his harem are out gadding about at feathered pink teas and tango parties. Not one grumbling gobble does he emit. Inordinate pride fills his days and nights, for has he not performed the miracle of the ages!

"Muscat," who gained his name because of his fondness for white grapes, is the property of Miss Mary Shields here. Last year he hatched three chicks out of a possible six. This year he maintained his percentage by bringing forth eight chicks from sixteen eggs. It's become a regular habit with "Muscat" now. His owner's only fear is that the old gobbler will completely demoralize the turkey hens by showing them how easily they can evade their maternal duties.

"But," she says, "I can't find it in my heart to deny him this strange passion. He seems to get such profound joy out of it."

Muscat was not among those of his kind who graced the Thanksgiving table. He has proven himself too valuable for any such barren end.

Muscat, the remarkable gobbler, and some of the young turks he has successfully "mothered." Scorned by his fellow-gobblers as a "sissy," he has the laugh on them today, for he alone was spared the axe.

THE ARMY MULE'S LAURELS SECURE

Cannot Be Displaced Until American Roads Are Better.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The American army mule need have no fear for his laurels because of the great part gasoline motors have played in transportation problems of European armies in the present war. Until American roads generally are brought up to the high standard of the roads of Germany, France, Belgium and other European countries, the army mule will determine through his capacity for hauling, the limitation of operations for American military forces.

Only one branch of the United States army is giving serious attention to motor traction. In the quartermaster's department experiments are being made, particularly along the Texas border, with handling supplies in motor trucks. Motor trucks are in general use, of course, about army posts and wherever good roads are available; but when maneuvers take the columns into the field and the sandy or muddy country roads, where mere wheel tracks across the country are the only highways, the six-mule team is still master of the transportation situation.

A few years ago it was determined to experiment with motor transportation as a means to increase the radius of field artillery. The most available subject for this purpose was the battery wagon, carrying the forges for gun repairs and horseshoeing and also the saddler's equipment. One such wagon accompanies every battery of artillery in the field. It trails along in the rear of the column and does not go into action. Thus its activities are largely confined to roads although the battery itself must go cross lots by field and stream to take positions against an approaching hostile force.

General Crozier, chief of the army ordnance bureau, designed a motor battery wagon which was tried out in maneuvers. It proved a flat failure for it was so heavy that it broke through bridges, sunk to the hubs in soft roads and generally hampered the battery to which it was attached. The experiment was abandoned and the ordnance bureau is now content to await the results of the experiments of the quartermaster's department in self-propelled army transportation units. Mules and horses are good enough for American artillerymen as yet.

In connection with the newest heavy siege pieces designed for the American army it was proposed recently to experiment with European gasoline traction engines. Arrangements were under way for the importation of one of these at the time the European war broke out. Now every engine of that character has been turned to actual use abroad and instead of importing automobiles or motor trucks, the United States is shipping them abroad for the use of armies there.

In many ways, army officers believe, the present war will have little effect on the development of American military transportation equipment. The armies of Germany, France, and to some extent England are equipped to fight in the highly developed territory which is the present theater of war. Transfer them to the interior of the United States and the greater part of their motor equipment and much of their heavy artillery would be found almost useless, it is said. They would have to be re-equipped with horse and mule transportation. The difficulties encountered by German troops who crossed the Russian border, officers say, were those of transportation. Poor roads made it impossible for them to move guns and supplies as their tactical training directed. Several big guns were lost without having fired a shot, it is reported, because they could not be withdrawn swiftly.

The United States army employs motorcycles to some extent for orderlies carrying messages. Even this is limited by road conditions, however, and while suggestions for a motorcycle corps have been made, serious attention has not been given to the subject as yet. A cavalry horse still answers the purposes of the army better than any other means of communication by orderly.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 92 A, Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. nov 12-26 dec 10-24

THANKFUL FOR MEMORIES.

ARE UNUSUALLY THANKFUL TODAY

Anti-Tuberculosis Workers Find Much Cause for Gratitude.

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—"Anti-tuberculosis workers in Indiana are unusually thankful this year," said Professor Severance Burrage, president of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, today.

"We are thankful that the number of deaths from tuberculosis in Indiana each year is gradually being reduced. We are thankful that the thinking citizens of Indiana are becoming awake to the danger that confronts them in the form of 'the white plague.'

"We thank the All-Wise Providence that this state and nation are at peace with the world and that year by year, an increasing proportion of our abundant resources are being used in fighting tuberculosis, a danger which threatens each of us without regard to our station in life. On this day in particular, we are thankful that Red Cross seals, which are on sale in practically every Indiana county, are being purchased in greater numbers than ever before. And in this connection, the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis desires to express its sincere appreciation of the helpful service in our campaign, rendered by the citizenship of this prosperous commonwealth. Business men, church workers, club women, school children, all are joining with us in an effort to sell an average of ten Red Cross seals for every man, woman and child in the state.

"The results of their efforts undoubtedly will be a still further reduction in the appalling death rate from our common foe—consumption."

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for Croup.

Croup scares you. The loud hoarse croupy cough, choking and gasping for breath, labored breathing, call for immediate relief. The very first doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will master the croup. It cuts the thick mucus, clears away the phlegm and opens up and eases the air passages. Harold Berg, Mass. Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always acts quickly." Every user is a friend.—Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

As a substitute for red in danger signals, which is the color less easily distinguished by the color blind, experts have advocated blue circles with wide yellow rims.

D. J. CRIMMINS TO BE RETIRED

Has Worked Throttle of Pennsylvania Yard Engine Over 30 Years.

Among the Pennsylvania employes who will be retired to the pension system January 1 is Dennis J. Crimmins, of 225 East Butler street, one of the best known yard engineers in the city. Mr. Crimmins is now practically retired, being unable to work on account of sickness. He entered the employ of the company as a fireman April 7, 1883, and February 5, 1899, he was promoted to yard engineer, which position he has held ever since, working nearly every day of the year, including Sundays, until recently, when he was taken sick.

RECEPTION POSTPONED.

The reception in honor of H. A. Philley and A. J. Cash at Unity hall arranged for next Monday evening has been postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. Cash, which prevents her husband from coming here on that date. Mr. Cash is the recently appointed general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., an office that Mr. Philley has filled for three or four months. Mrs. Cash was recently operated upon for appendicitis and is recovering, but unable to leave her home in Logansport, hence the postponement of the reception.

SHIPPING GAS HOLDER MATERIAL.

The Western Gas Construction company is just completing a million dollar gas holder plant at St. Louis and today sent the last car load of the material to be used in its construction. The works in this city have had this contract in hand some months and it furnished employment for the shop force to a greater extent than any other single contract the company ever had. The company also forwarded to Springfield, Mass., yesterday a car load of valves and fittings for a big repair job.

KILLED HORSE; DRIVER ESCAPES.

With the top of their buggy up and the curtains tightly closed, Fred Vonbion and W. Bagley drove on the Pennsylvania crossing on one of the streets of Warsaw last night and the rig was struck by westbound Pennsylvania train No. 11. The horse was instantly killed and the buggy demolished, but the occupants escaped with slight injuries.

WATER SCARCE IN OHIO.

A soft water famine prevails along the Nickel Plate road between this city and Bellevue and the company is compelled to use deep well water for steam for its locomotives. This water is very unsatisfactory as it makes considerable lime and shortens the service period of the engines. A good, heavy rain would relieve the situation.

TRAVEL GOOD YESTERDAY.

All the local ticket agents report a good sale of tickets yesterday, particularly to local points. The business was not quite as heavy as it was a year ago, but better than expected, because of the general dull times in all trades and lines of business.

At the close of the program Bishop Alerding expressed the pleasure afforded him during the afternoon, and went on to state that the hopes of five years ago of a high school for boys had been realized to the extent that the institution is now an established fact. He proceeded by telling the many beneficial things that were and could be gained by attending the parochial school. The address of the bishop was greeted with prolonged applause, following which dismissal was announced.

DECLINES CALL TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Prof. Louis Dorn Decided to Remain a Member of College Faculty.

Prof. Louis Dorn, a member of the faculty of Concordia college, and a member of the city park board, decided to decline the call to the Indianapolis congregation which he received from the St. Paul's church Monday of this week. The decision was reached Wednesday afternoon when he met in conference with the other teachers of the school.

After discussing it thoroughly the fact was brought out that he was of more use to the church in his present position than any other place. Prof. Dorn sent a telegram announcing his decision, and also stated that he hoped that they would soon be successful in securing a pastor.

MORE FARMS ARE IN QUARANTINE

Forty-Four Head of Cattle on Nail Farm Will Be Killed.

Several more farms near the John Nail farm close to Maples were placed under quarantine Thursday by county officials in an effort to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease in Allen county.

Strict measures have been adopted by Dr. W. F. Myers, county veterinarian, and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux, because it is realized that unless immediate action is taken the disease will get a foothold on this county that will be hard to overcome. Seven schools, six public and the St. John Lutheran, have been closed by county officials and will not be permitted to open again until all danger is passed.

Dr. H. H. Cohenour, government veterinarian, who arrived here late Wednesday afternoon from Niles, Mich., inspected the forty-four head of cattle and confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. Myers.

All roads near the Nail farm have been fenced and positively no travel in that vicinity is permitted.

Quarantine Lifted.

Announcement has been made that the quarantine on all roads south of the Yellow river road near the Whitley county line would be lifted Thursday.

Work was started Thursday on the trench in which the Nail cattle will be buried. The appraising of the cattle will probably be done Thursday afternoon.

BIG PROFIT IN THE WATERWAYS

Secretary of National Rivers Congress is Armed With Facts.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—"The direct saving on goods actually carried by water in the United States is more than 500 million dollars a year."

"Cheap transportation benefits both the producer and the consumer, for instance, making wheat and cotton higher and flour and cloth lower at one and the same time."

"Frankfort, Germany, grew more in twenty years after the River Main was canalized than it had grown in fifteen hundred years before."

Facts such as these are a part of the ammunition used in his campaign for river and harbor improvement by Sydney J. Roy, field secretary of the national rivers and harbors congress.

For a National System.

The congress, which is to hold its annual session in Washington next month, was organized to build sentiment in favor of a national system of waterways and harbors. It advocates the provision of adequately equipped terminals, either publicly owned or so controlled that they shall be open to all users on equal and reasonable terms; and the enactment and enforcement of all legislation needed to secure constructive co-operation instead of destructive competition between railways and waterways.

When Mr. Roy comes to Kansas City he feels he is "at home" because of the interest Kansas City men have taken in the Missouri river improvement.

The Reason for It.

"The national rivers and harbors congress advocates a policy that will secure the systematic, comprehensive and speedy improvement of all the waterways and harbors of the United States to such an extent as shall be found commercially profitable," said Mr. Roy yesterday. "Note that phrase, 'commercially profitable.'

"The fundamental reason why the government should deepen the country's waterways is to build commercial and industrial centers in the interior of the country and thereby bring about a more equal distribution of wealth and population, for it is true that throughout the civilized world the largest cities, the densest population, the busiest and most prosperous people are to be found along navigable waterways. There is a reason why the improvement of the Missouri means so much to Kansas City.

Minneapolis Sees the Light.

"And Minneapolis is doing just what Kansas City has done. To hold the transportation that belongs to Minneapolis and St. Paul a barge line is to be built from Minneapolis to New Orleans. Duluth, 140 miles north, has an all water route to the sea, and Minneapolis knows that she must have an all-water route also to hold her own in transportation. Part of the river improvement at Minneapolis is a $100,000 terminal."

HAS NEW FAD; WEARS FLUFFY MUFF ON HER SLEEVES

Here's the "girl with the muff," but she really has no muff at all. It's just one of the new "made in America" fashions which has tagged make-believe muff on the sleeves of some of the new evening coats. The cuffs are comfortable places for a pair of chilly hands, and they are not nearly so inconvenient as a muff.

This fur-trimmed "made in America" cloak is white velour, the fur trimming is black fox.

WE'VE got a lot of customers who call us first when they have a printing order to place. That's because they know we try to give them something more than printing. "Let's forget the price for a minute," we say, "and figure out what the printing is for and how we can make it profitable." Prices are always competitive, but good service creates a monopoly. We want to be not low man on price but high man on profit to the buyer.

GRAIN RATES TO ADVANCE DEC. 15

Increase Will Be One Cent Per Hundred Pounds in the West.

Washington, Nov. 26. The railroads have notified the interstate commerce commission that they propose to advance grain rates from the west one cent a hundred pounds on December 15. This action, it is announced, is in line with the policy of the transportation lines to take advantage of the order of the interstate commerce commission in the 5 per cent. rate advance case issued last July to advance the rates on what is said to be unremunerative traffic.

The existing rate on grain from Chicago to New York is sixteen cents domestic and thirteen cents export. The new rates proposed to become effective on December 15 are from Chicago to New York, seventeen cents domestic and fourteen cents export. Already the roads have taken advantage of the advance of 5 per cent. granted them in Central Freight Association territory, but the advance on the unremunerative rates is entirely in addition to this.

Whole Territory Covered.

Central Freight Association territory includes the southern part of Illinois and Michigan, and the states of Indiana and Ohio, and the extreme western part of Pennsylvania and New York. The advance in the official classification territory covers the whole of that territory between the Mississippi and the Hudson rivers. In this general territory the advances are understood to be planned on those rates which the commission pointed out in its decision were unremunerative.

The decision of last July was in effect that the roads may advance the rates in Central Freight Association territory, and suggested that they eliminate terminal allowances, advance passenger rates and increase the so-called unremunerative rates. Plans already have been made for advancing the passenger rates, and now it is found that the unremunerative rates are to be advanced.

Advances on Live Stock.

The advance of five cents a hundred pounds on live stock and fresh meats, proposed to become effective December 15, and the advance in the grain products rates are in line with this suggestion. It is expected that the railroads will take full advantage of the suggestion of the commission and advance the remaining unremunerative rates. Included among these are understood to be the rates on corn, oats, wheat, flour, live stock, beets, copper, corn sirup, pig lead, paper, cotton, wood pulp and similar rates.

Live stock people continue to complain to the commission of some of the proposed advances and requested that they be suspended pending an investigation. It is expected that the commission will give consideration to this request at its monthly conference to be held within about two weeks. Inasmuch, however, as the commission already has suggested that the roads should advance the unremunerative rates there is a question whether the commission will consent to suspend the proposed rates.

It is noted that the commission did not point out exactly what should be held to be unremunerative rates, and therefore a discussion is likely to arise as to which of the advances now being filed by the eastern roads should be suspended.

It has been suggested in England that chewing-gum, which allays thirst and wards off the pangs of hunger, it a suitable present for the troops.

"Farmers Attention"

There is not any truth whatever in the reports being circulated that we are under quarantine on account of the "foot and mouth" disease quarantine, or that we have discontinued buying hogs. We are taking all of the hogs being brought to us by farmers and expect to continue to do so.

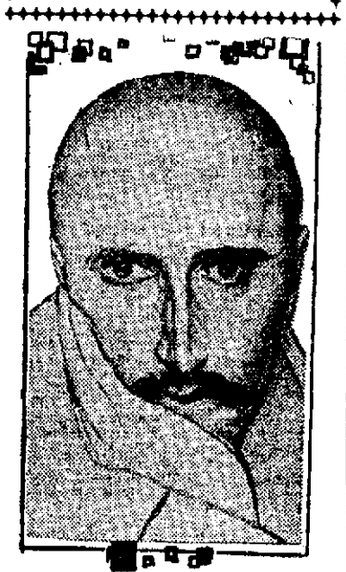
Sad-Eyed Genius is Quite a Gay Chap



Romain Rolland

Paris, France, Nov. 26.—Remain Rolland the sad-eyed literary genius isn't half as sad as the Cubists and the Futurists and the rest of the artist-freaks would have him appear.

The Frenchman is having a very good time just now writing abusive letters to Hauptmann and other German literary fellows telling them that German warfare is vandalism and not patriotism; he's also rejoicing over the success of his latest book, "Musicians of Today," in which he continues his favorite literary pursuit of portraying musical genius.

Bayer, Deltchel, Hartman, John, Keller, Kinder, Korte, Lepper, Mills, Ofenloch, Rogge, Schlebecker, Smith, Welch.

The minutes of the last regular session having been delivered to the council, were, on motion, approved as published.

MAYOR'S COMMUNICATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 19, 1914.

Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I have approved the following ordinance, and resolutions passed at your regular session of November 10th, 1914:

General ordinance No. 670, an ordinance concerning the removal of the habitation of families and other persons in the city of Fort Wayne, and providing penalties for the violation of said ordinance.

Resolution No. 112, a resolution requesting the board of public works to obtain estimates of the probable cost of a wholesale market building, with a view of removing the present wholesale market to some other location.

Resolution No. 113, a resolution appointing Mayor William J. Hosey and President of the Council Wm. A. Bayer, delegates to the annual rivers and harbors congress at Washington, D. C., December 9th, 1914.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. J. HOSEY,
Mayor.

Concurred in.

CONTROLLER'S COMMUNICATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 24, 1914.

To the Honorable Common Council, City.

Gentlemen:—The common council having decided to send two representatives from Fort Wayne, Ind., the honorable mayor, Wm. J. Hosey, and the president of the council, Wm. A. Bayer, to the rivers and harbors congress, to be held in Washington, D. C., in December, 1914, I would respectfully recommend that one hundred fifty dollars ($150.00) be appropriated to pay the expenses of the two gentlemen.

Respectfully,
W. C. RAADE,
Controller.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 24, 1914.

To the Common Council.

Gentlemen:—Your committee of the whole to whom was referred the petition of the citizens conventional hall committee for the construction of an auditorium in the city of Fort Wayne, respectfully report that it has carefully considered the contents of said petition. It finds that the right of the city at this time to submit to the citizens the question of the construction of an auditorium is doubtful under the law as it now exists and it also finds that there is a law for the construction of a county auditorium, but your committee finds that there is some opposition on the part of some citizens to the construction of a county auditorium, such citizens believing that such a convention hall or auditorium should be owned by the city itself.

Your committe further reports that it is in favor of allowing the citizens of Fort Wayne to vote upon the question as to whether or not there shall be a municipal auditorium or convention hall, but your committee believes that before such question is submitted to the city of Fort Wayne, there should be a law which will allow the citizens to vote intelligently upon the subject.

Your committee therefore recommends the appointment of a convention hall committee of five (5) to be appointed by the president of the council to act in conjunction with the committee of five (5) to be appointed by the citizens convention hall committee and the city attorney to draft an act to submit to the Indiana legislature for passage providing for the submission to the citizens of the question of the construction of an auditorium or convention hall and that said committee submit the draft of such act to this council for approval before its presentation to the legislature for enactment.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

Gentlemen:—We, the undersigned freeholders upon and along Barr street, adjoining and adjacent to the present market, so long maintained on said street, and also the undersigned business men owning, operating and conducting business in and upon property along and adjacent to said market, respectfully petition this honorable body and say:

That the present market has been used as such for the purpose of accommodating the farmers and the sale, especially of farm products, as a public market, almost ever since the city of Fort Wayne has been incorporated; that the present market upon and along Barr street is especially adapted for the purposes, for the reason that it is of easy access from all parts of the city and surrounding country and is peculiarly centrally located; has been improved for said purpose by the city, at a large expense to the tax payers; that the businesses established upon and along said street, have all been so established and arranged as to accommodate the existence and the continuation of the market in and upon Barr street, from Washington street to the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad; that the moving and changing of the market and the selecting of some other place not centrally located, would not only be a great inconvenience to the citizens, but would cause the undersigned great financial loss and damage:

Therefore, we and each of us respectfully petition this honorable body, that said market not only remain upon and along the street heretofore mentioned, but that the same be firmly and permanently established thereon.

PETITION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 19, 1914.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

Gentlemen:—We, the undersigned, citizens of the city of Fort Wayne, and citizens in the vicinity of the city of Fort Wayne, each of whom are much interested in the establishment and the permanent location of the retail and wholesale market for the accommodation of farmers and for the sale of all kinds of produce, especially vegetables and farm products of every kind, respectfully petition this honorable body, and say:

That the present market, located on Barr street, extending from Washington street north to the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, has been continuously used for the purpose aforesaid, almost from the time the city of Fort Wayne has been incorporated and known as a city; that it is centrally located, easy of access from all parts of the city and country and is the most ideal place in all particulars for the purpose aforesaid than any other spot or place that could be selected in or about the city; that the property holders and business men along said street adjacent to said market, by reason of the accommodations and long continued use of said market as such, have improved their various properties and so arranged their business as to accommodate all persons desirous of either selling upon the market or purchasing thereon, and in so doing have spent large sums of money, and it would be unjust to them, especially at this time, outside of all the inconvenience that may be occasioned to the citizens of the city desiring to use the same, to move the market to some other point or place in or about said city.

Therefore, we respectfully petition this honorable body and request that the market aforesaid be retained and maintained upon and along Barr street, in the same manner as herebefore.
